

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

Piano music for tea and organ music for dinner is now the order of the day at the Empress Hotel.

The new arrangement follows complaints that tea and crumpet-munching in the lounge is no longer accompanied by the time-honored string trio.

"We have no intention of putting canned music in the tea lounge as has been suggested," a hotel spokesman said. "There will be live piano music until further notice."

This week Miss May Lambert is dispensing light piano music for tea and organ music for dinner. An electric organ was installed in the dining room recently.

Young city artists won seven of 13 prizes in a nationwide cartoon contest sponsored by the produce firm of A. P. Slade.

Entrants were to draw cartoons based on the firm's trade mark.

Winner of first prize, a transistor TV set, was Craig Segula of 5 Gorge Road.

Donna Gurski, 833 Brock, won second prize, a pair of seven-power, 35-millimetre binoculars.

Third prize winners were Bruce Simmons, 2999 Eastdowne; Linda Miller, 3870 Epsom; Trevor Jones, 2395 Cavendish; Bev Davies, 3363 Painter, and Sharon Brownley, 401 Thetis Crescent. All received transistor radios.

City police Sgt. Tom Stevenson tipped his cap and won $200 the other day.

It was the cap on a Coke bottle, under which was stamped the amount of his winnings, part of $300,000 and a fleet of new cars being given away by the soft drink people across Canada.

This is the next-to-biggest prize won to date by a Victoria person in the 10-week stunt, says local bottler Ed Gudewill.

A $500 cap has turned up, but the winner is biding his time undergoing an emergency operation before collecting.

Shut-ins and hospital patients will be able to participate in the Holy Communion service at Metropolitan United Church Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

The service will be broadcast over CJVI and all persons unable to attend are invited to break bread and take wine, grape juice or water in sympathy with the ceremony.

"We would like to hear from any groups of persons in nursing homes or hospitals who cannot be with us," says Rev. Dr. F. E. H. James. "We will then send an elder of the church to help them participate in our communion service."

Recent issues of Canadian stamps are "revolting," according to A. P. Rainey of 577 Transit Road, Oak Bay.

"That squiggly little thing with the Queen's bust on it is an abortion. It is more of a caricature than a likeness, and the design is unworthy of Canada."

Mr. Rainey maintains Canadian stamps should be pictorial with colorful representations of ships, aircraft, forests, birds and animals.

"Such stamps would be a valuable advertisement for Canada abroad. They would also enhance our prestige."

He feels, too, that our blue air mail forms should carry pictures of Canada, as is now being done by other countries.

Members of the 1st Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, who paraded through Victoria Friday night as a farewell gesture before leaving for Germany this fall, were given a surprise farewell themselves.

As the motorized columns passed Bay Street Armory they were greeted by 130 members of 5 (B.C.) Independent Medium Battery, RCA, cadets and band in No. 1 dress with two 105 howitzers, the militia unit's colors.

Drawn up in front of the Armory, the artillerymen presented arms and the band struck up "Auld Lang Syne."

The farewell gesture was a complete surprise both to the PPCLI and the members of the militia unit, holding a full-dress rehearsal for its annual inspection this week.

Only the artillery commanding officer, Major T. G. Dalzell, and Capt. Bill Hoosen, adjutant, and Major W. Stirling of the Patricia's knew of the rendezvous.

A grateful PPCLI commanding officer, Lt.-Col. G. G. Brown, invited members of the militia unit back to Work Point afterwards. They didn't leave quickly.

Cigarette Villain On Judy's List

JOHN PROFUMO
... had everything

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP) — Health and Welfare Minister Judy La March says she is considering a national conference on the relationship between cigarette smoking and lung cancer.

She said the matter is one of grave concern in the tobacco districts of Ontario.

Miss La March told the Southern Ontario Liberal Association Saturday that a stack of incriminating evidence is piling up on her desk.

A cigarette smoker for 20 years, Miss La March said she may give up smoking.

She said a recent study involving 70,000 Canadian veterans had produced results which were "hardly comforting."

Miss La March said she would ask all interested groups to take part in the conference, including the tobacco industry.

"I am confident the industry would act responsibly," she said.

She said also consideration is being given to a program to point out the dangers of cigarette smoking.

"I have frankly been stunned by the rising wave of public concern over this matter."

Donald Rolph, 816 Linden, pleaded guilty in Colwood RCMP Court this morning to impaired driving and was fined $200 by Magistrate A. I. Thomas. His licence was suspended for six months.

GREAT FUTURE WRECKED

Career in Politics Built Step by Step

LONDON (AP)—John Dennis Profumo was a brilliant politician whose great future was wrecked by his past.

He came from a family that had money, breeding and a romantic background. He had a fine education.

Step by step he built a distinguished career in politics.

He married a beautiful and talented wife. At 48, he had collected a large share of honors.

Many people were inclined to believe him when, some weeks ago, he stood up in Parliament to deny rumors linking him romantically with a 21-year-old party girl named Christine Keeler.

Then, in a letter to Prime Minister Macmillan tendering his resignation as secretary of state for war, Profumo admitted he had lied about his association with red-headed Christine.

He admitted he had misled Macmillan, his colleagues, the House of Commons, his wife and family and his professional advisers. Then he and his wife stole away to a hideout somewhere in the country.

ITALIAN NOBILITY

Profumo was born into a family with a noble Italian background, steeped in diplomacy with estates near Parma. His grandfather became a naturalized British subject.

John Profumo—Jack to his friends—does not use the family title Baron Profumo of the former United Kingdom of Italy.

His father, who twice ran for Parliament, gave John the traditional education designed to take him to the top. He went to Harrow, then Brasenose College, Oxford.

He took part in university plays. He wrote a musical called Night and Day. Such interests were to lead him to marriage with film and stage actress Valerie Hobson in 1954.

He distinguished himself as a steeplechase rider and as a pilot. Money was never short; his family controls a British insurance company valued at more than $11,000,000.

At 25, as an army officer he was elected to the House of Commons.

His military career in the Second World War was meteoric. At 29 he became the youngest brigadier in the British Army.

By 1957, he was undersecretary of state for colonies. A year later he was undersecretary at the foreign office.

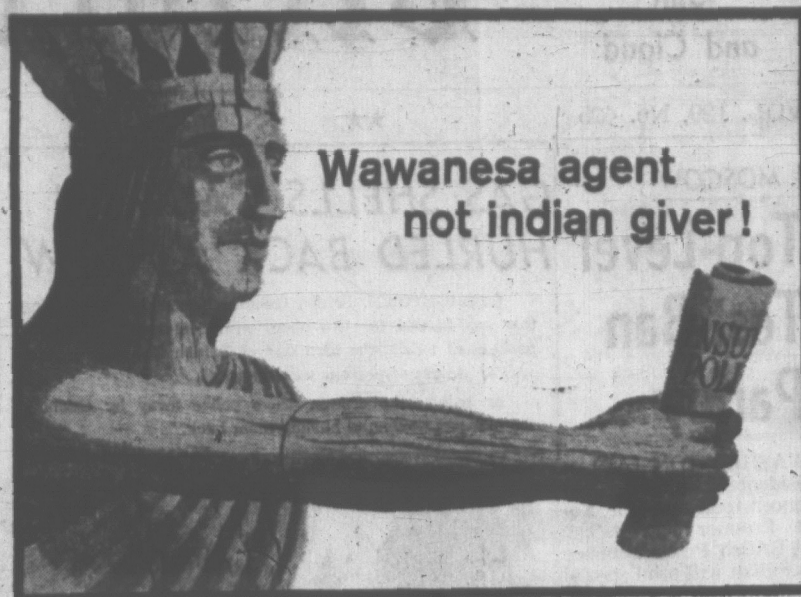

CABINET WAS NEXT

In 1959, he was made minister of state at the foreign office. In July, 1960, he became secretary of state for war, a sub-cabinet post. The next step would have been the cabinet.

But criticism of the suave, bald, smartly-dressed man began to grow. There were troubles with the army in Germany. There were questions in Parliament about his offer of a modeling job on a recruiting poster to a girl he met at a party. There was unrest and a walk-out by a big group of Guards from their barracks.

These were slight compared with the mounting tide of rumor linking his name with Christine Keeler. The fifth Baron Profumo of Italy tried to stem the tide. In the end he failed and was engulfed.

Adrift Nine Days, Fisherman Rescued

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—

A 45-year-old Pennsylvania fisherman, adrift in a 39-inch square baitbox for six days without food or water, was rescued Sunday from the Gulf of Mexico.

Doctors said Russell C. Swift was in good condition, but was sunburned and blistered. Swift had not eaten for six days and his last drink of water came from a rainstorm last Tuesday.

Swift, of West Springfield, told the U.S. Coast Guard his 30-foot boat, the Java, was on its inaugural run when it sank June 3.

Since then, he said, he bobbed in the gulf, often within sight of fishing vessels. Swift said he could not wave to fishermen for fear his bait box would overturn, so he waited.

A coast guard amphibian plane, notified that Swift was sunburned and blistered, spotted the box 50 miles southwest of here and after several passes the plane verified a man was inside.

A shrimp, the Coral King, picked Swift from the water, while a helicopter from St. Petersburg was dispatched to bring him to land. He was taken to hospital.

Coast guardsmen said Swift was calm and jovial, despite obvious exhaustion from his six-day exposure.

post; Marcel Lambert, the former speaker of the House; J. A. Maclean, the former fisheries minister; Donald Macinnis, (PC—Cape Breton South); Heber Smith (PC—Simcoe North); G. W. Baldwin (PC—Peace River); R. G. L. Fairweather (PC—Royal) and Paul Martineau, former minister of mines and technical services.

The purpose of the defence committee was to elicit all the facts and study policy in the defence field. Mr. Harkness pointed out to reporters. Under the circumstances he said he would have thought that as the former minister of defence his contributions and views would have been most helpful "even necessary" to that end.

However, he recognized that his views did not coincide with those of Mr. Diefenbaker, particularly in the nuclear weapons field.

In the debate preceding the setting up of the defence committee last week Prime Minister L. B. Pearson suggested that the former defence minister would be a valuable member of the defence committee. He said that "the former minister (Mr. Harkness) will be given an opportunity, when he is a member of the committee to bring forward all the information which he appropriately can in connection with this matter."

The "matter" he had reference to was the existence of documents in which Canada accepted certain "obligations or commitments" for arming its Canadian forces in Europe with nuclear weapons. Mr. Pearson quoted from an interview this correspondent had with Mr. Harkness last Thursday on the matter in question. It contradicted opposition Leader John Diefenbaker who suggested no such documents existed.

lation to Francois Giroux, and Eugenio Pilote.

He said he and others in the group were asked questions by Raymond Villeneuve and gave written replies before being invited individually to meet with Schoeters and Hudon at another table.

He said the questions dealt with such things as ownership of a car, weapons, martial status and "whether we were ready to die for the cause."

He said they were asked to take an oath but "it was not a formal oath, just an oral oath." He said no instructions were given but "we were told that we would be called and then told whether we could work with them."

He said pseudonyms were chosen. Brouillard said he chose Charlot.

Brouillard said that on the evening of March 7 he and Alain Gabriel were called to Raymond Villeneuve's house where they prepared two molotov cocktail incendiaries.

STRIKE AT ARMORY

He said they travelled by city bus to downtown Cathcart Street where he and Villeneuve deposited the incendiaries outside an armory while Gabriel painted the letters FLQ on a wall.

Brouillard said Villeneuve tossed one Molotov cocktail at a window and that he (Brouillard) dropped the second on the ground.

He said he heard no explosion. All three then ran.

He said the Molotov cocktails were made of quart beer bottles filled with gasoline, with a piece of wood wrapped in cloth as a stopper.

By CARL MOLLINS

TORONTO (CP) — The retiring president of the Canadian Medical Association fired an official parting shot today at the Saskatchewan government medical care plan and said the doctors are determined to win their struggle against state-run health care for all.

Dr. Malcolm R. MacCharles, a Winnipeg surgeon who hands over the CMA presidency this week to Dr. William W. Wigle of Toronto, called on his colleagues to "marshal all our wisdom and genius to keep medicine safe for the future."

Reviewing his year in office at the start of the week-long CMA annual meeting, Dr. MacCharles described the settlement ending a three-week withdrawal of regular services by the Saskatchewan doctors last July as "the agreement to disagree—and it is still just that."

DOCTORS ARE UNHAPPY

"The (non-government) prepaid plans have been emasculated, the government has unilaterally interpreted the agreement, the great majority of doctors are unhappy and an atmosphere of turmoil and distrust prevails."

He said that at a meeting of the CMA Saskatchewan division last October "the unity of the profession, their determination to hold together and win their struggle, their ability to ridicule the politicians in their ability to present skit, were all memorable to behold."

Dr. MacCharles suggested that Ontario and Alberta "learned the lesson of Saskatchewan" in proposing limited medical care through existing commercial and private insurance schemes.

During the Saskatchewan struggle, he said, doctors were surprised by the "extraordinary broad support" they received from the people, the excellence of emergency medical services in the crisis and "the unbecoming comments of some uninformed sections of the press."

3,500 DOCTORS ATTEND

Medical plans figure prominently in the program for some 3,500 doctors here for the CMA's annual meeting. Cigarettes and cancer, heart disease, drugs, traffic accidents and athletic injuries are features of the agenda.

FERNANDO BELAUNDE ... vote delay

Leftist Leads In Peruvian Election

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Leftist Fernando Belaunde led in early returns today from Peru's presidential election, but vote frauds in two states may delay the results.

Peruvians chose Sunday from among the same candidates who ran in the 1962 election annulled by the military.

Victor Raul Haya de la Torre, the front-runner last year whose lead triggered the intervention by military leaders, trailed this time.

It was his leftist but non-Communist party, the American Popular Revolutionary Alliance, which charged fraud in two north central states. The states, Ancash and Cajamarca, are both centres of APRA strength.

The national election board later confirmed the fraud charges. It said ballots were removed from packages of election material shipped to the two states. Blank papers and newspapers were stuffed back into the packages.

The board said it is investigating.

The election board had ordered voting delayed in the states for 10 days, but unconfirmed reports said local authorities opened voting booths to those willing to mark their choice on ordinary paper.

'LAY DOWN ARMS' OR ELSE

Iraq Dares Kurds

BAGHDAD, Iraq (Reuters)—Iraq today announced resumption of the 30-year-old war against Kurdish tribesmen in the country's northern mountain region, which was placed under martial law Sunday.

The government ordered the Kurds to lay down their arms within 24 hours or "pay the consequences."

After the overthrow of the Kassem regime in February, the new government agreed to decentralize rule for the Kurds, and negotiations began here.

But the Kurds sent envoys to Cairo asking that a state of Kurdistan should be a fourth and equal partner if the union of Egypt, Syria and Iraq became effective.

The Iraq government said the "Red Mullah," Mustafa Barzani, a wily Russian-trained guerrilla who has fought against Iraq governments of all types for 30 years, was not really representative of the Kurds.

A statement by the National Council of the Revolutionary Command, Iraq's ruling body, broadcast by Baghdad Radio this morning said:

"Beginning today we are clearing the northern area of the remnants of Barzani and the northern area is considered operational."

"The national council described the Kurds as separatists connected with imperialism and Zionism, protecting and co-operating with fugitive Communists."

It declared the northern provinces of Kirkuk, Sulaymaniyah, Mosul and Erbil military combat areas.

Our Neighbor's Trouble

AS THE UNITED STATES CONGRESS begins to debate new civil rights legislation, foreigners should keep the Negro problem in proportion.

It is useless to expect that this problem of more than three centuries will be solved by any statute or in any calculable time. The integration of the Negro into American society and the removal of the white man's prejudice against him will be a long process. The only question is whether it can be accomplished peacefully, by reason on both sides, or whether it must fall into the hands of extremists, white and black, with resulting violence and tragedy.

The attitude of Canadians towards the difficulties of their neighbors is often stained by hypocrisy. In terms of practical politics there is no Negro problem here. A political party does not have to consider the Negro vote because there is none of any political significance. But before we hurl the first stone at the United States we should ask ourselves whether we draw a color line in Canada.

Of course we do. Can anyone honestly say that the Canadian Negro is treated exactly like the white man? Of course not. The Negro is not treated with violence, he can vote freely and his children attend our public schools, but he has never enjoyed social equality. Seldom, no matter how high his abilities, can he succeed in the learned professions and never in politics.

The color line is non-violent but it is firm—especially firm in our immigration regulations which do not admit discrimination but practice it. The Canadian Negro, in short, enjoys full civil rights but not first-class citizenship.

We should ask ourselves in can-nor whether, if we had a long history of Negro slavery behind us, and a large population of Negroes among us, we should have behaved better than the Americans. It is easy to be virtuous when virtue is not tempted. And easy to deplore the behavior of our neighbors when we do not face their problem.

Actually, considering their difficulties, the American government, legislature and judiciary are showing great courage in the enforcement of basic civil rights. President Kennedy, for example, is risking the loss of the Solid South and perhaps his own re-election next year. His brother, the attorney-general, is acting more vigorously than any predecessor to protect the Negro. The conscience of the nation is aroused as it has not been aroused before since a civil war was fought over the Negro problem just a hundred years ago.

We read almost daily of demonstrations, riots and arrests in the South but at this distance we seldom see the real progress made by the Negro, the slow but steady enforcement of the Supreme Court's historic integration ruling.

Unfortunately the colored races outside America hear little of this progress either. They hear only the news of violence and the Communists, ignoring their own crimes against humanity, exploit the news skillfully in their propaganda throughout Asia and Africa.

All this is to be expected, and perhaps the news will get worse before it gets better, but Canadians, who have happily escaped their neighbors' problem (but have another deep racial problem of their own) should not forget that only a century ago most American Negroes were slaves. In human history a century is a brief span.

Fishing the High Seas

CURRENT NEGOTIATIONS IN Washington emphasize the one principle that must be honored if a high seas fisheries convention is to have any force. That principle is spelled out in a single word, co-operation.

If one of the nations fishing on the high seas declines to observe certain desirable, perhaps essential, controls acceptable to others, then the whole purpose of control is destroyed.

In the present instance Japan wants access to more high seas fisheries than she enjoyed when the first North Pacific Fisheries Convention laid down the rules for not only Japanese, but Canadian and American fishermen. If Japan refuses to sign a pact renewal, or a compromise, then nothing can be done by Canada or the United States to force Japanese observance of their special regulations on the high seas.

It is obvious from current negotiations that Canada and the United States are now dealing with a Japan whose muscles are much stronger than they were 10 years ago, when the first agreement was reached. It seems obvious, also, that Japan intends to use those stronger muscles.

The argument can be, and has been, raised that Canada and the United States wish to conserve fish stocks which spawn in Canadian and American rivers, in the case of salmon, and in territorial waters in certain other instances. But neither the Canadians nor the Americans can claim ownership of such fish once they move out of territorial waters, be the limits three miles or 12 for fisheries purposes.

The attitude of the Japanese, moreover, throws glaring light on another major weakness in the three-nation arrangement that has existed over the last decade. Nothing contained in the convention relating to high seas fishing excludes Russian fishboats from areas outside territorial limits. Soviet fisheries are expanding in the North Pacific. Obviously the Russians should be invited to join, should be urged to join, in fact, if the purposes of conservation are to be served.

Moscow can, of course, point out that it has nothing immediate to gain by subjecting its fishermen to limitations observed by the other three nations—nothing, that is, except the protection of a valuable food resource from possible depletion to the point of extinction.

But the invitation should be pressed. Even if rejected, the fact that it had been extended to Russia would remove grounds for the clamor of those elements in the Canadian fishermen's union who loudly protest against renewal of the three-nation convention without Russia.

Of course, Canada and the United States have excellent reasons for wanting to preserve the convention, modified, if necessary, to meet changing conditions. The two North American countries have spent large sums on the propagation of fish in their waters, rivers included, and in research to avoid seriously reducing available stocks. There is nothing whatever improper in the self-interest the two nations display in their efforts to make conservation effective through controls.

But neither owns or has jurisdiction over the high seas. The ocean, beyond territorial limits, is wide open. A Canadian-American fence on two sides of it isn't going to provide protection if either Japan or Russia fails to complete the fence on the other sides.

Pressures can be applied by the North Pacific maritime nations, one against the other, in an effort to persuade all to follow a common course. The effectiveness of such pressures, however, remains to be proved.

The commonsense approach, of course, is to co-operate to ensure the survival of the fisheries. Without co-operation everybody loses eventually—and what they lose is nothing less than food, the essential of life.

An End of the Terror

MONTREAL POLICE AND ALL who co-operated with them are to be commended on the smart round-up of fifteen suspects in connection with recent terrorist activities. This appears to account for all, or almost all, of the group which for several weeks planted bombs in public places, caused considerable property damage, killed one man and severely injured another.

Whatever the misguided gang sought to accomplish must be deemed a complete failure. Their violent anti-British and anti-American activities served only to unite Canadians of French and British descent against them.

Terrorism has no possible place in Canada and all those found guilty of such tactics, no matter what their objective, should receive punishment heavy enough to convince them and all who might resort to bombings in the future, that it does not pay.

Turning Point in the Civil Rights Crisis

By JOSEPH ALSOP

IT JUST may be that Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi and the police dogs of Commissioner Bull Connor of Birmingham, Ala., have co-operated to cause a hopeful turning point in the cruel civil rights crisis.

Without the dogs and Ross Barnett, the current mobilization against violence and lawlessness would hardly have been possible. For precisely the same reason (illogical as this may seem) there has been an important shift in Congressional opinion. Quite suddenly, the passage of a civil rights bill this year has become a quite imaginable event.

"It won't be easy, but it can happen," is the verdict of one of the most knowledgeable members of the Senate club.

Dominant Group

The key to the problem is the dominant group of Republicans in the Senate, with Sen. Burke Hickenlooper of Iowa coming next in importance after the Senate Minority Leader, Everett Dirksen of Illinois. Playing with the Southern conservatives has always been these Republicans' game.

If the Republican-Southern conservative coalition is maintained, there is not even a ghostly chance of civil rights action by Congress, either now or in the next session. It may not be necessary to invoke cloture in order to pass a civil rights bill, but there will have to be enough votes behind the bill to pass a cloture motion if need be—which means two-thirds of the Senate. And such a bill cannot get the needed two-thirds vote without Republicans of the Dirksen-Hickenlooper stripe.

Civil Rights

The dramatization of the civil rights crisis, particularly by the horrifying photographs from Birmingham of Bull Connor's police measures, has brought much mail from the Midwestern Republican states. The clergy, particularly, are up in arms. Sen. Hickenlooper, shocked himself like his fellow Iowans, has told some of his Southern friends that he may no longer be able to stand by them.

This is the background, in turn, of the sudden delay of the President's civil rights message, and the accompanying Administration bill, which were expected to go to Congress last week. With his customary legislative flair, Vice-President Lyndon B. Johnson scented the change of atmosphere, and advised the President to wait.

The delay is in fact designed to give the President time to touch all the legislative bases, and to do everything he can, first of all to mobilize advance national support, but above all to rally Republican support in Congress.

The key event will come this week, when the President will meet quietly with the Republican as well as the Democratic Congressional leaders—both parties being included on the sound ground that this is a national emergency.

The kind of legislation being discussed is also encouraging. The Administration already has a bill on the Hill to increase the safeguards for Negro voting rights. To this would be added another bill outlawing segregation in all public accommodations coming under the commerce clause of the Constitution, and allowing the Justice Department to intervene more effectively in school desegregation cases.

If this kind of legislative package really can be passed—and one must keep all fingers crossed—the advance will be greater than anyone could possibly have dared to hope for, even a few weeks ago. Yet there is a bitter flavor in this cup of hope.

Routine Exam

In a recent nationwide civil service examination of a routine sort, 1,800 Negroes were candidates, and only about 80 passed the test. The explanation of this ugly statistic, of course, lies in the educational and economic handicaps so long imposed on the American Negro community. Equal rights are only a first step on the long, hard, but necessary road towards removing these handicaps.

As Our Readers See It

'Medicare' Plan

Two years ago a representative of a "medicare" insurance company visited us and offered us coverage by means of what was described in large capitals "A comprehensive medical surgical plan." We were handed forms which, under the heading of "Surgical coverage" said simply "Will pay operations at 80 per cent of the current schedule of fees specified by the B.C. Medical Association."

Nothing was said about any important exception to this claim, although we questioned the representative on that point. To make the deception more complete, we signed a declaration stating (quite truthfully) that we had never suffered from any malignant disease. The representative said that the full agreement form would be sent with our acceptance. We paid the first subscription, saying that we hoped there would be nothing in the small print on the agreement form which would come as a surprise. The representative waved his hand deprecatingly and smiled indulgently at the mere suggestion.

A few days later we got the agreement form, on the back of which in small print, among a host of minor items, was the proviso that cancer was especially excluded from the scheme beyond the point of diagnosis. The excuse given later was that "few companies cover cancer." To the request that my fees, paid on behalf of three people, be returned to me I received no reply. I later joined M.S.I., whose methods at least comply with the standard of ethics accepted in decent society.

May I draw attention to something said by a distinguished American biologist in a recently-issued scientific book: "It almost makes one weep to think of the large amount of revealing data that has been thrown away by research laboratories of drug houses because the observations did not point the way to commercial gain."

Who can we trust but our doctors?

Force It Into the Light

May I compliment you on your excellent editorial regarding Maclean's discomfiture of Pierre Berton's column. The central issue, as you point out, is not associated with the internal policies of the magazine, nor with the possible undesirability of some of Mr. Berton's opinions. The concern centres about the almost panicky response exhibited by some segments of our society whenever they encounter opinions which do not conform to their own.

If we cannot examine, evaluate and subsequently either accept or reject new proposals in a calm and reasonable manner, we may be in a dangerous position, both individually and collectively. An individual who reacts with increasingly severe panic to new situations often finds himself in a mental hospital. Those societies which have reacted in this way in the past have not fared well and prospects do not appear better for them in the future.

It is time we Canadians discarded the paranoid notion that every view contrary to our own constitutes a personal affront or threat. It is nothing of the kind. A new viewpoint does present a challenge, but we should meet it with reason, enthusiasm, and not a little humor. It would seem that Canadians not only cannot laugh at themselves but they dare not even think about themselves.

Do we really need the Government to protect us from an array of letters on a page? Censorship does not destroy offensive material, nor does it control it effectively. Instead, it makes it go underground where it is harder to detect and destroy. But the offensive matter lives on like a cancer, eating away slowly but ceaselessly at the society which pretends it is healthy all the while until perhaps too late it awakens to the reality of the situation.

There is only one way to deal with the offensive material, and that is to force it out into the light. If it really is offensive it will shrivel and die.

A short time ago the Attorney-General of this province was reported to have said he has never received any communication objecting to censorship. I hope he will consider our editorial a valid objection.

It should also be understood that an objection to censorship does not imply an objection to control. Few would object, for example, to the "desk copy" policy used in our public libraries. That is a different matter entirely.

George's Point

The news item headed "Working Conditions Hit by Chatterton" in your June 1 issue, misses entirely the point and purpose in my House of Commons speech of May 31.

My concern is not for my personal comfort or convenience but for the limitations and obstacles which prevent a member from more effectively performing the duties and functions of the elected representative of his constituents.

The concluding and pertinent sentence in my statement is "I hope the government will give these matters some consideration so that members of parliament may be better equipped to represent their constituents and to represent the interests of the parliament of Canada."

Force-Fed Geese

Not so long ago there was something in the news concerning "angry young men."

If these young men will turn their attention to the still-flourishing horrors of vivisection and now the making of meat paste from wretched geese which are machine-forcibly fed, they will find something well worth their anger.

There is such a thing as "righteous anger." The straight-thinking people know what it is and they should not be afraid to use it.

The misguided folks who support experiments on animals and kindred cruelties, are equal sinners with the heartless people who invent and practise these cruelties.

HONG KONG:

Red Yak Hair Banned

By HEDLEY RHODES

THE $17 MILLION Hilton Hotel, recently opened in Hong Kong, is in trouble with U.S. Treasury officials based in this British colony. The issue revolves around the American hotel's purchase of merchandise that may have Communist origins.

Under U.S. law it is illegal for a U.S. citizen to buy any item either manufactured or "presumed" to have originated in China. Several weeks ago a U.S. Treasury agent informed the general manager of the Hilton, Mr. Howard Baron, that $100,000-worth of wood carvings, scroll paintings, bronze statues and other chintzes scattered throughout the hotel were violating U.S. law.

Proof of Origin

Mr. Baron was advised that the hotel, as the subsidiary of a U.S. corporation, could not utilize any items for which proof of origin was lacking. He has been required to show such evidence for virtually everything in the hotel, from dishes to beaded curtains. Annoyed at having to plunge into complicated paper work when in the throes of opening the hotel, Mr. Baron complained in a radio interview that he was being treated unfairly.

He contends that he has done his best to meet U.S. regulations. "I've had to amass files of documents that reach up to here," he says, indicating his own height. But Mr. Baron has complied, and removed the subversive objects d'art from the hotel. He acknowledges that he did so on order from Mr. Leo F. Corrigan of Dallas, Texas, whose company is the majority shareholder in the hotel.

Under what he calls "crash circumstances" Mr. Baron has commissioned a special group of artisans to fashion new bibelots for the hotel. He claims that these craftsmen, whom he has personally interviewed, have no Marxist persuasions.

But Mr. Baron is not happy about other U.S. legal requirements, particularly the suggestion that he discriminate against certain guests for political reasons.

"What if Mao-Tsung comes to Hong Kong and wants to stay at the Hilton? Do I throw him out? Do I have to ask the U.S. Consulate for permission to let him stay? After all, shouldn't we want to show Mao what we can do: show him the American way of life at the Hilton?"

Reasonable Manner

In asking the Hilton Hotel to meet their requirements, U.S. officials explain that they are trying to enforce the law in a "reasonable manner." Promulgated in 1917, the Trading with the Enemy Act was invoked in 1950 as a consequence of the Korean war. It imposes a total embargo on all trade with Communist China in order to deny dollars to the Peking regime and prevent the shipment of U.S. goods to the Chinese mainland.

As Hong Kong trades extensively with China, the U.S. Government has drawn up a lengthy catalogue of merchandise that Americans may not purchase in the colony. Forbidden products include dried egg yolks, gall nuts, Chinese herbs and yak hair. Americans are also forbidden to buy laces, silks, jade and ivory carvings.

In order to distinguish Chinese merchandise from similar products made in the British colony, certificates of origin are issued with Hong Kong-made items. The British colonial administration issues these certificates, which actually benefit Hong Kong by helping to keep cheaper Chinese goods off the U.S. market.

U.S. officials admit that it is impossible to enforce the U.S. embargo completely. This would require that Americans be prevented from eating in Hong Kong's Chinese restaurants, which import most of their delicacies from across the border. Fresh water is also imported from China; and, for all anyone knows, may go into the manufacture of Coca Cola.

Equally Difficult

It is equally difficult to stop Americans buying Chinese antiques, bric-a-brac and inexpensive underwear at the China Products department store, one of Peking's outlets in Hong Kong.

But with the Hilton Hotel, U.S. officials considered the violation too obvious to be overlooked. They do not accuse Mr. Baron of "wilfully trading with the enemy" but with failing to provide proper evidence, of origin of some of the hotel's furnishings.

The U.S. has no extra-territorial rights in a British colony, and could not prosecute an offender against U.S. law in a foreign land. But action could be taken against the home office of a U.S. branch or subsidiary in the colony. For this reason the hotel is obliged to conform to U.S. regulations, and its directors have made it clear that they intend to do so.

Help for the Disturbed

I have here a letter from a woman who says that Recovery, Inc., has helped her tremendously. It is a group of people, many of whom once had a mental upset, and later were cured. Now they come together at intervals to help each other stay well. Many mentally disturbed persons who cannot afford to go to a psychiatrist tell me that Recovery, Inc., has helped more than any physician ever did.

The woman who now writes me says, "I feel that the reason why Recovery, Inc., is so successful with its disturbed or fearful or anxious persons is because it places the responsibility for behavior where it belongs — on us ourselves. We are taught that every one of us must patiently bear a certain amount of frustration and discomfort; also, we are taught that many symptoms — and even some very distressing ones — need not be dangerous or alarming; we must not then get panicky about them."

We are taught that uncontrolled outbursts of temper are our worst enemy, and a sense of humor is our best friend. We are taught — and this is so important — that we must expect an occasional setback, with a few black days. We are taught that we should stay social, and above all, we must think of others, and not spend all our time thinking of ourselves.

There are chapters of Recovery, Inc., in many cities all over the United States. We pay $5 for the text-book, and a free-will offering is taken up at the weekly meetings. Most people give from 25 to 50 cents. If you join the group and pay $3 a year, you receive the monthly bulletin from Chicago, and this is very helpful."

I have said before in this column that last year I had a beautiful example of what Recovery, Inc., can do when members of the group cured a patient of mine who had a terrible fear that he was going to die of a heart disease — which he did not have. When I could no longer lift him out of his despair, I sent him to Recovery, where a kind woman who had once lived with this same fear, and had conquered it, quickly cured him. With the experience she had had with the man's disease she knew just what to say to him that would convince him that he could get well.

People who are ill are so happy when they find someone who has or once had their illness. Many a sick person who is suffering would rather talk to someone who has had his disease and has recovered, than to any doctor living. This is one of the secrets of the success of Alcoholics Anonymous.

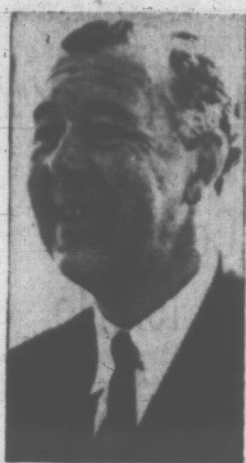

A great advantage of Recovery, Inc., is that the group gladly helps those persons who are broke, and cannot afford to pay even the most reasonable fees of a kindly physician.

Every week I get letters from people — often youngsters — who are much distressed because their upper eyelids drop down all the time and make them look rather stupid or sleepy. Also, it is hard for them to see. Usually these young people have been to eye specialists who have told them they didn't know of anything to do.

If I had such a trouble, I would first go to an excellent neurologist who could tell me whether I had an injury to some nerves, and what that injury was probably due to. He might tell me that I had one of the so-called muscular dystrophies in which a number of muscles are weak, and remain weak all the person's days.

Now I have just read an excellent article by Dr. J. W. Henderson of the Mayo Clinic, in which he says that the best thing an eye surgeon can do is to shorten the levator muscle that pulls up the upper eyelid. I will not discuss the operative problems because they are highly technical.

In those many cases in which a child is born with the drooping upper lids, it is well to operate the year before the youngster goes to school. It is not advisable to operate on small children, because their tissues are too thin. Sometimes the ptosed (dropped) lids is only on one side, and then the surgeon needs skill and experience if he is to get the two eye-slits equal in size.

HOME GARDEN

Subtle Pleasures Come Later

The most remembered things about a garden are not always the most dominant features.

Indeed they may not even have color. Yet they remain forever in the memory of those who love gardens and plants.

The fragrance of border pinks in warm June sunlight is unforgettable. The taste of nectar in the tubes of phlox flowers, and coconut flavor of wild gorse blossoms were adventures belonging to childhood.

But the more subtle pleasures of the garden are apt to be gathered during the later years of our seven ages.

The beauty which dusk and moonlight lend to the garden are most appreciated during what might be called the romantic age, while the magic half hour before sunrise waits for a later age when some family care is apt to have us around at unusual hours.

There are some pleasures that we can gather no matter what age we are in—the pattern of frost on hairy leaves in winter is well worth a long thought; and this last week we discovered a new pattern to file away, raindrops on the slightly waxy leaves of the purple Smoke-bush, continues.

It is well to put by a store of such memories, for they are useful on occasions when one may be cut off from one's garden and other beauty.

A more earthy memory to tuck away is that of searching around under the foliage of the potato plants for tubers large enough to risk the swiping without digging up the whole plant.

Nothing is disturbed until the size can be felt with sensitive fingers—it is something like purloining the eggs for breakfast from underneath a pet hen.

Woman Warns Tension High In Quebec

WINNIPEG (CP) — Miss Jeanne Du Val of Quebec City Sunday predicted that if something isn't soon done to ease tensions between French and English-speaking Canada, confederation will be destroyed.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the Voice of Women Miss Du Val said:

"I am completely convinced if the situation continues another four years there will be no such thing as Canada as we know it today."

"Please be conscious of the danger in Quebec."

"In the bomb zone everyone is terribly worried and there is great tension throughout the province that may explode at any time if it is not eased in time."

Miss Du Val was speaking in favor of a resolution, later passed, calling for a cultural and news exchange among members to further French-English co-operation.

PEARSON TELLS CANADA-U.S.

'Take Differences in Stride'

By JAMES NELSON

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (CP) — Canadian-American differences in world affairs should be put to work for the benefit of the free world and not made a subject of morbid worry or poisoned relations.

This was the theme of Prime Minister Pearson's first major foreign policy address abroad when he received an honorary doctor of laws degree under a blazing Sunday sun on the main campus mall of Notre Dame University.

Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, president of Notre Dame, said it was a Canadian-American policy statement that will set the tone between the new Liberal government of Canada and the United States for many years to come.

Pearson said Geography, history, economics and defence combined to make U.S. interests in world affairs "very largely our interests." But because the United States is such a powerful country, and Canada so comparatively small, it was natural for the two countries to run into a great many differences.

"We should be able to take differences in stride, as good friends know how to take the broad view to make the general interest prevail, and therefore to accommodate the minor differences with reason and restraint."

Pearson said there are two consequences of the disparity in size and power between Canada and the United States.

"We are always watching big brother to see what trouble he might get us into, while at times protesting at the fact that big brother is not watching us."

"You and we at times react differently to international problems. Despite all that we have in common as North Americans we often look at things through very different telescopes."

These differences can be put to work, Mr. Pearson said, by Canada and the United States complementing each other's policy and ideas.

Pearson said that because Canada isn't as powerful, it can have more ease and flexibility in international relationships than the United States.

"You cannot sneeze without other countries thinking that they are getting the cold and feeling inclined to blame it on you. We can sneeze with impunity."

Currency Changeover Hoarders' Challenge

WELLINGTON (Reuters) — New Zealand's tax evaders, thieves and other "hot-money" handlers have four years to get rid of their hoarded currency.

The government's announcement that New Zealand will go over to a decimal currency from the present British-style pound in 1967 means that between now and then they will have to risk passing their loot back into circulation or lose it altogether.

It is believed that most of them will try to convert their illegal funds into some temporary investment which can later be changed back into decimal coinage without awkward questions being asked.

If the existing one-pound note is withdrawn, the introduction of new notes could bring to light, for example, rolls of bank notes buried in backyards to avoid taxes or conceal the proceeds of unsolved robberies; money still hidden away since wartime black marketing days; and money stored away under the kitchen floor by pensioners worried about the means test.

Law-abiding people who just like hoarding money could also find themselves in an awkward spot.

Channel Tunnel Link Favored Over Bridge

LONDON (AP) — British and French experts have suggested that their governments build a tunnel rather than a bridge as a means of linking their two countries across the English channel. British informants said Saturday.

The recommendation was agreed upon in a two-day meeting — probably the last of a long series — which ended here Friday.

Informants said the British-French expert committee displayed a preference for a two-lane rail tunnel, as against the bridge, on grounds of costs, convenience to shipping and internal law.

There have been varying estimates of the cost of the two projects, pushed by rival financial interests.

A French promoter recently suggested a 20-mile bridge would cost about $750,000,000 and take about six years to build.

Estimates of the costs of a tunnel have varied according to its location, its width and facilities. But the most quoted figure is $600,000,000.

Only political or financial considerations are likely to prevent the old dream eventually being fulfilled.

Youth Remanded

A 16-year-old, who stole a car that was later smashed up, appeared in city police court Saturday charged with theft.

John Thompson, transferred from juvenile court, pleaded guilty. He was remanded until Friday for probation report and sentence.

The car was taken from In front of 1336 Carnesw on June 2. The $1,000 vehicle was almost completely wrecked in a later accident. It also hit two parked cars.

U.K. Official Predicts Wider Use of B.C. Wood

VANCOUVER (CP)—Britain is eyeing British Columbia lumber as a means of speeding up her low-cost housing program. This was disclosed by Sir Donald Gibson, head of the 16-man British Timber Housing to Canada, in a weekend interview here.

"We are considering wider use of lumber in home construction in Britain and would like to have a look at your lumber industry," Sir Donald said.

Sir Donald, director of research and development in the British Ministry of Works, said the United Kingdom must increase its housing more than 50 per cent in the years to come. Population in Britain was increasing faster than houses were being built.

He said the majority of British buildings in the past have been built of brick and mortar. "But today we have a shortage of brick layers and tradesmen in related fields."

The mission arrived here Saturday from Eastern Canada and will visit B.C. plywood plants and mills. Some of the delegation will go to Prince George to see logging operations there Tuesday and others will go to Calgary Wednesday.

Mayors Support Kennedy Plan

HONOLULU (AP)—President Kennedy's call for a five-point program to reduce racial tension in U.S. cities was taken up today by several of the most powerful mayors who pledged a battle to see it through.

New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner said of the president's message: "It is a real challenge . . . and a lot of us will fight to see that our conference adopts a resolution supporting this position."

Backing up Wagner at the national mayors' conference were Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago, Mayor Jerome Cavanagh of Detroit and Mayor Joseph Barr of Pittsburgh.

Cavanagh, in fact, went further in support of Kennedy's suggestions, terming civil rights "the most critical problem confronting the nation today . . . more critical than Cuba or Berlin."

Kennedy made a 30-minute speech to the 650 mayors Sunday, emphasizing that Negroes are certain to win equal rights and calling on the city leaders to make the process a "peaceful revolution."

The president's address capped a five-day, five-state western tour that carried him from military inspections to political appearances and two talks on civil rights. He flew to Washington Sunday night to make a major foreign policy speech today at American University.

There was speculation the president is planning a new bid for joint East-West action to halt nuclear weapons tests.

MAYORS AGREE
Kennedy told the mayors the time is past "for token moves and talks." It is clear he said, that Negroes eventually will have equal rights and, "our responsibility; yours and mine, is to see that they are won in a peaceful and constructive manner, and not won in the streets."

Justice cannot wait for too many meetings, Kennedy said. "It cannot await the action of the congress or even the courts. We face a moment of moral and constitutional crisis — and men of generosity and vision must make themselves heard in every part of the land."

The mayors' conference resolutions committee went into session immediately after the speech and drafted a program in line with Kennedy's ideas plus a plea that "minority groups be encouraged to recognize the correlation of responsibility and duty with right and that equality of responsibility be encouraged along with equality of opportunity."

The later point was seen by Wagner as an effort to attract the support of southern mayors. Several criticized Kennedy's talk because they said the president put too much emphasis on rights and not enough on duty.

"Perhaps our greatest problem," said Mayor A. Allen Hall of Santa Anna, Calif., "has been that we are expected to have a percentage of colored people in relation to the ratio of blacks to whites, and this sometimes operates to the detriment of the white people."

Intimate Stage Summer Series On Campus

The experimental theatre on Gordon Head campus, which was developed last winter out of one of the H-bus complexes, will be occupied for part of July and August by Intimate Stage.

This group, directed by Tony Nicholson, will present Harold Pinter's "The Caretaker," there July 8 to 13, and "The Hostage," by Brendan Behan, probably from Aug. 5 to 10.

Bill McColl, Rick Darnell and Elaine Fairman make up the cast of "The Caretaker."

BEST INFORMED CONCLAVE IN CHURCH HISTORY

Pope Selectors Know Their Man

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The cardinals flying into Rome this week for the secret conclave to elect a new Pope know more about each other and more about the world than cardinals at any other conclave in church history.

This could have a tremendous bearing on their choice of a successor to Pope John.

In earlier times, when land and ship travel was slow, the cardinals residing outside Rome seldom had a chance to see each other or learn anything of each other's thinking. They met only when a Pope died. And then it was for so short a time that at best some of them were voting for a well known church figure — rather than someone they knew personally.

This time the picture is dramatically different.

The cardinals had an opportunity to see each other at work and learn something of the other man's thinking: at the opening session last fall of Pope John's ecumenical council.

The attitudes revealed at the council — where the cardinals drew into liberal, conservative and neutral or uncommitted groups — will be carried into the conclave June 19 and will affect the selection of the next pontiff.

Modern advances in transportation and communications have made the world smaller. This should be the best informed conclave of all time.

The cardinal stepping forth to place his ballot in the golden chalice on the table before the main altar in the Sistine Chapel will know more of his candidate than just a name or a brief biography.

He will know more of the world and what sort of Pope he thinks is needed to cope with its problems.

The fact that the non-Italians are in the majority in the sacred college for the first time doesn't appear to increase the chances of the conclave throwing aside four centuries of tradition to pick a Pope from another country.

There are 53 cardinals from 30 other countries and 29 from Italy.

When a Thoroughbred Runs Amok . . .

Freak collision of two horses resulted in death for one of them and serious injuries to a jockey at Cincinnati's River Downs race-track Saturday. Rico Cop wheeled at start of fifth race, scattered grooms and valets, and bolted the wrong way around the track. The colt swerved to avoid the pack but ran smack into Suffering a broken right leg, severe mouth and face cuts and other injuries, Silva lay on track while workers rush to his aid. Colt that started it all, Rico Cop, sprawls dead a few feet away. Wakeham May Finally Win the City Amateur

By ERNIE FEDORUK

On the strength of today's form chart, Bill Wakeham is Victoria's top amateur golfer.

You might not get a unanimous vote on that, however, because the 22-year-old swinger has never knocked down the City Amateur championship.

He's packed off the B.C. trophy once (last year), the Times Island Open twice, and the Canadian junior. In between, he has claimed major honors in the West Coast Open, the mid-Island Open, and then some.

But never the City Amateur.

It's in his grasp today.

Wakeham carved out rounds of 69 and 73 over the demanding Gorge Vale layout Sunday to grab a big lead after two rounds of the 54-hole city event.

Bill's 36-hole total of 142, two under par, gives him a five-stroke edge over Colwood junior Ricky Kent and veteran Bill McColl of Victoria Golf Club.

Defending champion Laurie Kerr of Colwood is fourth at 149, seven strokes off the pace.

Even with that healthy lead, Wakeham doesn't go along with a suggestion that he can push the ball with his nose in next Sunday's final round and win it.

"If you go to sleep out here (Gorge Vale), you can get into a lot of trouble."

He expands on that theory by pointing to his Sunday scorecards.

FIRE TO BIRDIES

"I stopped thinking for a moment and found myself marking down those bogeys."

Over 36 holes, Wakeham marked down eight bogeys. But the Chopper has a happy knack of waking up in a hurry, and this may be backed up by the fact he also marked down some birdies Sunday. Ten of 'em.

The rest (18) were par figures.

It added up to the day's only par-busting display on a tough playing course that soon will become a par 74 layout.

YOUNGSTER SHINES

A pair of juniors stepped front and centre in the run for the handicap championship.

Denny Soberg of Colwood, a 13-handicapper, came up with a net 136 total to lead the field.

Wakeham's net was 138 and in third spot, at 139, is Cecil Ferguson, a Gorge Vale youngster who turned 13 just two weeks ago. Ferguson had gross rounds of 81 and 84.

Only the low 24 shooters in both gross and handicap section qualify for the final 18.

Ireland Scuttles Scottish Team

DUBLIN (AP)—The Republic of Ireland dealt Scotland's soccer team another prestige blow Sunday by defeating it 1-0 in a non-tournament international game.

It was Scotland's second defeat within a week. Last Tuesday Norway's all-amateur team beat the Scots 4-3 in Bergen.

CLARK WINS AGAIN

F.R.A.N.C.O.R.C.H.A.M.P.S., Belgium (Reuters)—Jim Clark, a 27-year-old Scot driving a Lotus Climax, won the Belgian Grand Prix here Sunday for the second year in succession.

Five C's reached high up the Victoria and District Cricket Association ladder Sunday to snap their losing streak.

Unable to collect a point in five previous starts, the C's turned in an aggressive game at Windsor Park and soundly trimmed second-place Oak Bay by 51 runs.

Batting first, the C's ran up a total of 144 runs for eight wickets and then dismissed Oak Bay for 93.

At Beacon Hill in Sunday's other match, Incogs turned on the heat to climb into a runner-up tie with the Oaks.

Incogs didn't lose a wicket as they blasted out a win over Albions.

SWEDISH PAIR INVITED TO JOIN LEAFS

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Swedish hockey players Kjell Svensson and Lill-Stoelven Oberg have received an invitation from Canada to play with the National Hockey League Toronto-Maple Leafs next season, it was learned today.

The players have not yet decided whether they will accept the invitation.

GEORGE BAYER GETS NEW CAR

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP)—George Bayer scored a hole-in-one on the 171-yard eighth-hole at the Warwick Hills golf course Saturday in the second round of the $52,000 Buick Open.

The ace, sixth in Bayer's career and the fourth on the current tour, was the first this year worth more than $100.

SMITH WINS IN TENNIS

BARCELONA, Spain (AP)—Margaret Smith of Australia won the women's singles of the Count of Godó tennis tournament Sunday, defeating Noelle Turner of Australia 6-0, 6-0.

AT WASHINGTON PARK IN CHICAGO, Fourth Estate Stable's Editorialist won the $32,475 Citation Handicap. Promissory Note was second. Times Roman finished third.

Mrs. Connie Ring sent out a longshot and a heavy favorite at Hollywood Park Saturday and watched with glee as they swept both sections of the Argonaut Stakes for three-year-olds.

Oppo, the longshot, took the first division under Jimmy Ruggeri. Then Olympiad King, ridden by Ismael Valenzuela, breezed home in the second division enabling owner Ring to pick up a total of $31,500.

UPSET OAK BAY

Five C's Crack Winless Streak

Five C's reached high up the Victoria and District Cricket Association ladder Sunday to snap their losing streak.

Unable to collect a point in five previous starts, the C's turned in an aggressive game at Windsor Park and soundly trimmed second-place Oak Bay by 51 runs.

Batting first, the C's ran up a total of 144 runs for eight wickets and then dismissed Oak Bay for 93.

At Beacon Hill in Sunday's other match, Incogs turned on the heat to climb into a runner-up tie with the Oaks.

Incogs didn't lose a wicket as they blasted out a win over Albions.

SWEDISH PAIR INVITED TO JOIN LEAFS

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Swedish hockey players Kjell Svensson and Lill-Stoelven Oberg have received an invitation from Canada to play with the National Hockey League Toronto-Maple Leafs next season, it was learned today.

The players have not yet decided whether they will accept the invitation.

GEORGE BAYER GETS NEW CAR

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP)—George Bayer scored a hole-in-one on the 171-yard eighth-hole at the Warwick Hills golf course Saturday in the second round of the $52,000 Buick Open.

The ace, sixth in Bayer's career and the fourth on the current tour, was the first this year worth more than $100.

SMITH WINS IN TENNIS

BARCELONA, Spain (AP)—Margaret Smith of Australia won the women's singles of the Count of Godó tennis tournament Sunday, defeating Noelle Turner of Australia 6-0, 6-0.

AT WASHINGTON PARK IN CHICAGO, Fourth Estate Stable's Editorialist won the $32,475 Citation Handicap. Promissory Note was second. Times Roman finished third.

Mrs. Connie Ring sent out a longshot and a heavy favorite at Hollywood Park Saturday and watched with glee as they swept both sections of the Argonaut Stakes for three-year-olds.

Oppo, the longshot, took the first division under Jimmy Ruggeri. Then Olympiad King, ridden by Ismael Valenzuela, breezed home in the second division enabling owner Ring to pick up a total of $31,500.

Angels' McBride Credit to Craft

Wins Despite Loss of Brother

(Times News Services)

Grieving Ken McBride had little desire for baseball Sunday.

No one would have blamed him had he decided not to pitch. But he forced himself to and turned in a magnificent job, considering his heart and mind were 2,400 miles away.

Only a few hours before he was scheduled to pitch against Minnesota Twins at Los Angeles, the Angel right-hander was informed that his younger brother, Clifton, 24, had been killed in a Cleveland auto accident.

Manager Bill Rigney told McBride he could leave for Cleveland immediately and another pitcher would take his turn.

McBride said he'd rather pitch before joining his family.

"I felt it would take my mind off what happened," he said, then went out and beat the Twins, 4-2, although he needed Mel Nelson's help in the ninth.

LONG INNINGS

"I thought about what happened back in Cleveland a couple of times while I was working a couple of long innings but I tried to keep it out of my mind," he revealed later.

The Twins, who had a four-game winning streak going, looked as if they were going to kayo McBride in a hurry when they scored a run off him in the first inning and another in the second on Jimmie Hall's homer.

But McBride blanked them thereafter without any trouble until he put two men on in the ninth. Nelson came in at that point and struck out pinch hitters Wally Post and Johnny Goryl to preserve McBride's sixth victory.

McBride fanned seven and allowed seven hits in the 8½ innings he pitched. The Angels got to Jim Perry for three runs in the fourth inning and picked up one more off Ray Moore in the eighth.

YANKS END SLIDE

Elsewhere in the American League, Chicago White Sox took over first place with a 4-3 triumph over Kansas City A's, Boston Red Sox beat Baltimore Orioles, 3-2, in 14 innings, New York Yankees ended a three-game losing slide with a 6-2 win over Detroit Tigers and Cleveland Indians downed Washington Senators, 7-3.

Los Angeles Dodgers prepared today for another showdown with San Francisco Giants after concluding a road trip with a five-game winning streak, a slim hold on the National League lead and a theory that where there's a Will's there's a way.

The Will's leading the way is Maury, the little speedster who has turned slugger since recovering from an injury and led Los Angeles to five straight victories—the latest an 11-8 conquest of Chicago Cubs Sunday.

WILLS LEADS WAY

Wills missed the first part of the road trip due to a calcium deposit on a toe of his left foot, and Dodgers proceeded to lose seven of 10 games while falling four lengths off the pace. They haven't lost since.

Wills followed up a four-hit performance Saturday with a 3-for-5 effort against Cubs Sunday, driving in three key runs with a bases loaded double in the sixth inning. That gave Wills 11 hits in 22 at-bats, a torrid .500 pace, since returning.

The sport has raised Wills' average from .252 to .290 and revitalized a slumping Los Angeles attack just in time for the start of a two-game series tonight against third-place San Francisco.

SUFFER SEVENTH LOSS

Giants are two games behind following their seventh straight loss, 3-0, to Houston Astros as reliever Hal (Skinny) Brown pitched one-hit ball for Colts over the final 6½ innings in the first Sunday night game in major league history.

Second-place St. Louis Cardinals, one-half game back, set the doubleheader pattern for the day by splitting with New York Mets, losing 8-7 before walloping Phillies, edged Cincinnati Reds 8-7 in 10 innings but Reds won 3-1 behind John Tsitouris' four-hit bid.

To replace Estrada, the Orioles signed veteran Ike Delock, released recently by Boston

Boros Breezes Home by Five

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP)—Muscular Julius Boros loomed today as a clear threat for the U.S. National Open golf championship in the wake of his record triumph in the $52,000 Buick Open.

The North Carolina golfer breezed around the 7,280-yard Warwick Hills course in two more sub-par showings Sunday for a 14-under-par total of 274, five strokes ahead of the field.

Boros' performance, in which he led from the start of play Friday after Thursday's rain-out, broke the Buick Open record by eight strokes. All his four rounds were under par.

Pocketing $9,000 in top prize money Boros, 43, planned to put in two practice rounds in New York today prior to Tuesday's 36-hole metropolitan sectional qualifications for the open June 20-22 at Brookline, Mass.

With his 66-71-68-69 string, Boros led runner-up Dow Finsterwald by five strokes. Dow shot a 279. George Bayer was third with 280. George Knudson of Toronto finished fourth at 281 to collect $2,600.

THIRD IN EARNINGS

With a recent money-winning streak including two tournament victories and two second places, Boros went into third place in the pros' 1963 cash earnings.

The North Carolinian's comeback after an injury-plagued 1962 season has brought him $43,325 in winnings. Jack Nicklaus leads with $57,615 and Tony Lama is second with $49,006, including his $1,310 piece of the Buick purse for his 288.

Finsterwald and Art Wall Jr. set the tournament record of 282 in 1959. Finsterwald, Bayer and Knudson also broke the 1959 record.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver had a 298 total and Al Balding of Toronto a 300. Both failed to make the money-winning list.

Lynn Eves Flashes Winning AAU Form

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—Jim Allen and Elif Fredriksen each won two events Saturday night to lead Washington State University to the team title in the men's division of the Pacific Northwest AAU track and field championship.

The Cougars compiled 42½ points to edge the Vancouver, B.C., Olympic Club which had 38.

The Canadian Club's women came through, however, to sail off with the women's team title. They had 64 points to 23 from Tacoma Macs.

Six meet marks topped in the 20 finals run off Saturday night. Allen set a record in the 440-yard hurdles when he was clocked in 52.2 seconds. The old mark of 53 seconds was set by Spokane's Denny Driskill in 1962. Allen also won the high hurdles in 14.9.

Fredriksen jumped 49 feet 8 inches to set a record in the hop, step and jump. The mark surpassed his 48-8 set last year. He came within about two inches of setting a record in the broad jump when he sailed 23-8½ in the afternoon.

Oregon State's Lynn Eves also was a double winner, taking the 220-yard dash in 22.3 seconds and the 440 in 48.0.

Don Bertoia, the Pan American Games champion in the 880, nearly was upset in that event by Bart Barto of Mercer Island High School. Both were clocked in one minute 55 seconds, but Bertoia was a step ahead.

Bertoia, a Washington State track star running for the Vancouver, B.C. Olympic Club, won the mile in 4:15.

The only record to fall in the women's events was in the 880 when Doris Severson of Seattle Pacific clipped her old mark of 2:21.8 to 2:20.9.

Helen Bezdeck got the Canadian women off to a good start in the afternoon when she won the discus and the shotput.

Sore Pinky Puts Maris On the Bench

DETROIT (AP)—Sluggish Roger Maris joined New York Yankees' mounting casualty list Sunday when he was forced out of a game with the Detroit Tigers because of an injured big toe on his left foot.

Maris fouled a ball off his toe in batting practice and left the game in the third inning.

He said he believes he will be able to play in Monday night's twilight doubleheader at Washington.

The Yankees already have lost the other member of their M-M slugger tandem, Mickey Mantle, for five weeks with a broken bone in his foot. Shortstops Tony Kubek and Phil Linz also are out of the lineup with injuries, and pitcher Bud Daley is on the disabled list because of bone chips in his arm.

Weather Threat Stops Vicettes

The women's softball exhibition doubleheader scheduled Sunday between Vancouver's Collingwood Legion and Victoria Vicettes was cancelled due to threatening weather.

It was necessary to notify the Vancouver club before 8 a.m. of the weather situation, and at that time rain appeared likely, Vicette manager Wally Yeamans said.

Chateaugay Ends Sulking; Sweeps Spots Off Candy

NEW YORK (CP)—If Chateaugay goes into a spoiled brat act again, trainer Jimmy Conway probably won't worry about it.

The three-year-old stopped sulking and won the Belmont Stakes at Aqueduct Saturday to grab the deciding race in his duel with Candy Spots for the Triple Crown of United States horse racing.</

Opening Pair Boosts Hopes

MANCHESTER (Reuters)—England, forced to follow on 296 runs behind West Indies in the first Test here Saturday, may yet save the game during the remaining two days thanks to a stout-hearted opening partnership by Mike Stewart and John Edrich.

Earlier, England was shuttered by the off-spin of Lance Gibbs and the pace of Wesley Hall, and were shot out for 205 in reply to the touring team's 501 for six declared.

Then Edrich and Stewart batted well in England's second innings. They scored 93 in 100 minutes before Edrich was superbly caught at backward short-leg 10 minutes before the day ended.

At the close England was 97 for one and needed another 199 runs to avoid an innings defeat. The pitch was helping the spinners a little and a tense fight was anticipated today.

England will have to show more spirit than it did in the first innings when their last six wickets fell in 50 dramatic minutes before tea while 24 runs were scored.

DON'T SQUEEZE PIMPLES

Squeezing pimples irritates the skin and leaves dark disfiguring marks. It's easy now to combat pimples and blackheads by clearing the skin with NIKODERM soap and using antiseptic NIKODERM ointment at night while you sleep. Quickly dries and cleans out pimples and helps heal the skin softer, smoother, clearer. Ask druggist. Look better fast. Advt.

Guild Comedy Hurt by Lack Of Cohesion

The Spy... Robert Lutes

The Archbishop... Ben Bostock

A technically complicated, satirically delightful comedy marks the end of the season for Victoria Theatre Guild at the Langham Court Theatre this week.

Jointly directed by Bert Farr and Helen Smith, it opened to a capacity audience Saturday night.

Combining elements of Shakespeare, Goldsmith and Shaw, it is a lampoon on diplomatic affairs, couched in terms of fantasy by one of the bright particular wits of our time.

Taken generally, with special reference to two exceptional performances—by Cliff Clarke and Ken Bostock—an interesting set and of course the crackling Ustinov lines, the show makes for an entertaining evening.

LACK OF COHESION

In the particular, however, there was a serious lack of cohesion in style of the production. One cannot escape the conclusion that no one but Mr. Clarke and Mr. Bostock recognized the need for formalization.

The show always attained a higher level when Mr. Clarke was dominant figure in a scene and as for the third act episode in which Ken Bostock portrayed the Archbishop, this was easily the highlight of the evening.

RIGHT TRACK

Robert Lutes, incidentally, as the spy with a conscience, was certainly on the right track throughout and brought off his part in this scene with flying colors.

There were quite skilful individual performances from the rest of the cast but all needed to be shaped by a style-conscious directorial hand.

The two families—American and Russian—sustained their identities well, and Romanoff and Juliet themselves, Mickey Muir and Margaret Newberry, made promising bows.

Lighting was un-subtle and often ineffectual. Costumes were good.

"Romanoff" will run through Saturday.

Curtain time is 8:15.

MANITOBA PLANS ACTORS' SCHOOL

Starry Future Dazzled Him

Prospect of a bright future in the theatre here inspired Peter Mannering to found the non-profit Victoria Theatre Studio for actors which will open in October.

Mr. Mannering was drawn by talk of a performing arts festival in 1964, plus the challenge of a fresh field in which to pursue his vocation.

In addition, he calls the west his natural and favorite habitat.

He returns to the coast from his job of directing the Manitoba Theatre Centre school.

EMPHASIS ON YOUTH

His plans, already rolling, call for the establishment of a similar school in this city, with emphasis on young students from junior to high school age.

He will, however, hold adult classes and a workshop in evening sessions. Junior students will be taught creative drama, speech and improvisation. At the high school level students will learn theatre history, play reading, improvisation and speech.

Student fees will be nominal, Mr. Mannering says, not more than $30 a year, and adult fees will also be kept as low as possible.

A large class of adults already has registered and enthusiasm is high among youngsters, parents and teachers, Mr. Mannering said.

Before the fall opening he must find a suitable building for his purpose and fulfil obligations at the Barkerville Festival in July.

Mr. Mannering is a graduate of the Pasadena Playhouse and has worked in the theatre in England, at Canada's Stratford with Vancouver's Holiday Theatre (which he helped to found and direct) as well as with the brilliant Manitoba Theatre Centre.

Victorians who remember Totem Theatre productions in the old Pantages on Government Street, will recall Peter Mannering both as a skilled director and actor on more than one occasion.

HE'S AN EASY MAN TO MEET AT THE STATION, Lorrie Kirk, president of the Victoria Real Estate Board said today greeting visiting realtor John G. Clarke, Portland. Realtors Ask $8,000 Limit On Home Improvement Loans

Maximum loan available under the National Housing Act for home improvements should be increased to $8,000, the realtors division of the Real Estate Institute of B.C. said Sunday.

Current maximum loan on a one-family dwelling for improvements is $4,000.

Resolution calling for the increase was introduced by the Vancouver Real Estate Board at the institute's three-day convention in the Empress Hotel.

It also calls for changes in the required rate of repayment to lessen the burden on the average home-owner taking out a loan.

In proposing the change, the Vancouver board said there

Topics of the Day

A pedestrian knocked down by a car on Government Street early Sunday morning is reported in fairly good condition today at St. Joseph's Hospital. He suffered a broken leg.

Fred Williams, 50, of 1209 North Park, was walking across Government Street near Fisgard when he was in collision with a car driven south on Government by Cecil Montgomery, 63 Corn-wall.

Cars and trucks worth $21,966.94 are being bought by Saanich from Suburban Motors, the low bidder in all but one category of recently opened tenders.

The Saanich firm bid $17,866.50, tax included, for six municipal trucks, compared with $18,900 set aside in this year's budget.

They also got orders for a passenger car at $2,106.70, and a station wagon at $1,993.74, the latter for fire department use.

A Vancouver firm, Air Equipment, won bidding for a 1½-ton roller with its price of $2,300.

A man who had to be forcibly restrained by a policeman from punching and kicking another man Saturday night pleaded guilty in city police court today to assault.

Walter Swain was remanded until June 17 by Magistrate William Ostler for probation report and sentence.

A police officer testified he heard calls for help while on patrol on Cormorant Street. He ran to 1609 Blanshard where he saw Swain punching and kicking Douglas Gallop about the head.

Swain said he didn't remember anything of the incident because he was "too drunk." The police officer said Swain had been drinking but was not intoxicated.

Dorothy Hart, 766 Kings, was fined $100 in city police court today when she pleaded guilty to driving while disqualified.

Sunday's warm sunshine has aggravated the problem of farm help needed to harvest the Saanich strawberry crop, the National Employment Service office said here today.

At least 500 pickers are wanted to work on farms instead of 300 as originally requested, NES officials said.

"The warm weather Sunday has resulted in the berries ripening faster than expected," said one official. "We want more and more pickers."

VMD Gives $10,000 to 'Y' Drive

Victoria's YM-YW building fund took another major step forward over the weekend with announcement of a gift of $10,000 from Victoria Machinery Depot.

The gift, announced by president Harold Husband, brought the current total to $820,000. Total goal of the campaign is $1.1 million.

"We are beginning to see daylight," campaign chairman Hugh Stephen said today. "We still have some large contributors to hear from and we're pressing ahead."

National corporations division passed $160,000 in total contributions over the weekend with a gift of $7,500 from Canada Safeway and $1,000 from W. H. Malkin Ltd.

The Birks Family Foundation of Montreal contributed $1,000 via local manager C. J. Williams, bringing to $18,500 the total from three foundations in the eastern city.

T. Eaton Co. has contributed $10,000 to add to employees' fund contributions of $4,000.

TARGET: AIR SUPREMACY FOR JETS OVER BIRDS

Falcon Squadron to Rev Up Soon

By FRANK RUTTER

A new air force is being mustered in an attempt to win air supremacy for the jets over the birds.

Canada's first squadron of falcons will go into action soon.

Operation Falcon will be tried out at Vancouver's International Airport—one of Canada's busiest, for jets and birds.

Seagulls, pheasants and ducks inexplicably throng the runways, posing a serious hazard to aircraft.

Why do they like airports? "I think they like the feel of warm asphalt under their feet," says Patricia Bay airport manager A. J. Knowland.

The falcon experiments won't be tried here, where the bird problem is only seasonal, he said, but any solution would be hailed at every airport in Canada.

Frank Beebe, B.C.'s leading authority on falconry, an illustrator for the Provincial Museum, is acting as special adviser to the National Research Council for Operation Falcon.

He said the object is to set various types of falcon loose on gulls. The falcons will probably be trained on Vancouver Island, with his assistance.

"The idea is not to kill a great mass of gulls," he said. "The idea is to make an example of one or two gulls."

Gulls, extremely talkative among themselves, would then spread the word that the airport is "unhealthy," and stay away.

University of B.C. research assistant Dave Hancock, of Wesley Road, Elk Lake, of the project, is now in the Queen Charlotte Islands recruiting Peregrine falcons.

Mr. Beebe said the falcon squadron will probably include six to eight Peregrines, his own Gyr falcon, largest and strongest of the falcon family, two European Goshawks from Germany, and one or more red tailed hawk, a B.C. bird.

"I won't forecast any results," Mr. Beebe said, "but I am certain in my own mind this can be done."

He calls falcons "one of the most magnificent creatures ever evolved on this planet."

Aviation experts have been trying for years to rid runways of birds.

In Britain during the Second World War falcons were flown down runways to frighten—but not to kill—starlings, but the experiment did not prove too successful.

In Holland stuffed birds were placed on runways while loudspeakers shrilled their cries in an attempt to clear the way for jets.

In Vancouver officials have been using a cannon, but the birds have become impervious to its loud reports, and even sit on it.

Several serious mishaps have been caused by birds.

Two years ago some pheasants were sucked into a DC3 jet engine at Vancouver. It cost $300,000 to repair. In Boston in 1960, 61 persons died in a runway crash blamed on a flock of birds.

SOOKE GIRL SHOOT'S SELF

An 18-year-old Sooke girl shot herself to death with a rifle in her house Sunday while her parents were out working in the garden.

She was found by her parents in the house on Kemp Road at about 5:30 p.m., rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital by West Coast Ambulance.

She died in hospital about two hours later.

Acting coroner Edmund Jorje de St. Jorre who conducted an inquiry into the girl's death today came to a formal verdict of suicide.

The girl was shot by a .303 rifle in the abdomen.

City Hall Move To Courthouse Given Approval

Temporary Home For Nearly Year

Bastion Square Courthouse will be the temporary City Hall for almost a year while the present civic headquarters is renovated and expanded.

A deal for purchase of the courthouse from the provincial government, informally approved by both sides, was revealed at the weekend.

City officials hope that their 10-months' sojourn in Bastion Square will spark a revitalization of the area before they move back into new quarters in the Centennial Victoria Square project.

Under terms of the deal the city will pay the provincial government $5,000 and turn over four lots it owns in James Bay, within the legislative precinct.

It was worked out between Public Works Minister W. N. Chant and a civic committee of Mayor R. B. Wilson, Ald. A. W. Toone and Ald. Arthur Dowell. Official ratification by cabinet and city council is expected.

$20,000 IN BUDGET

The city earlier had budgeted $20,000 for temporarily relocating civic staff while the present City Hall is under reconstruction. The transfer of offices will be made in late summer and actual work on City Hall will begin in the fall as a winter works project.

Ald. Toone, chairman of the urban renewal committee, said the city will have plenty of time to plan the future use of the courthouse.

Leading expectation is that it will become the home of the Maritime Museum of B.C. while the city-owned Duncan Building alongside it becomes an arts academy.

BOOST GARAGE

Besides putting people into the habit of visiting Bastion Square, the temporary location of civic offices in the courthouse also is expected to give a big boost to the nearby Langley civic parking garage now nearing completion.

The 68-year-old courthouse is one-third larger than the City Hall and will require a minimum of clean-up and repairs to prepare it for the transfer of offices.

Planning already is underway for creating a small park in the square.

THESES PRAISED

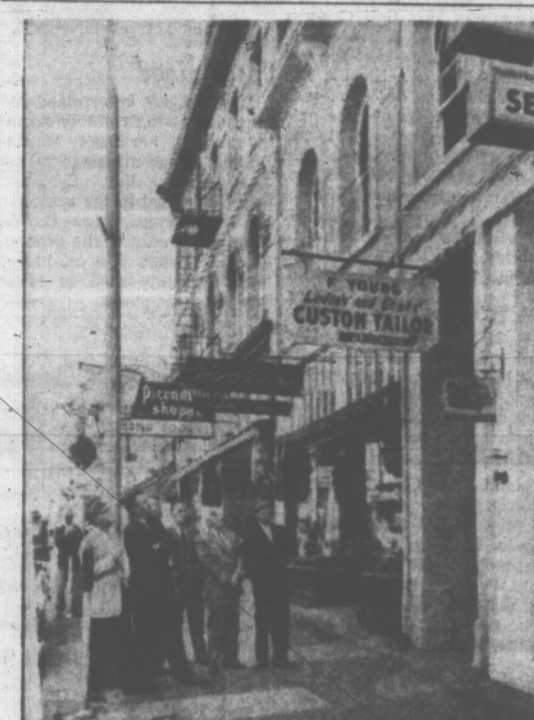

Both Mayor Wilson and Ald. Toone referred glowingly to a thesis on preservation and redevelopment of Bastion Square by Nicholas Bawlf who graduated this spring with an architecture degree from University of B.C.

He suggested government leadership would bring enterprise support in re-establishing the square as a bustling commercial area while retaining its old Victoria flavor.

Mayor Wilson said the thesis came at an appropriate moment.

"Mr. Bawlf's findings reinforce the thinking of those at City Hall who believe the Bastion Square area has historic significance and retains much of the unique character of the early west coast."

$15 Million Problem Faces Traffic Board

LOOKING UP AND HOPING things will look up for the whole downtown area with a concentrated "paint-up facelift" were a group of civic and business officials this morning. Photo shows them admiring new three-tone color scheme of the Greenwood Block, 1109 Government, to which Bapco Paint donated supplies after city planner Rod Clack worked out the color pattern. Ald. A. W. Toone asked Chamber of Commerce representative Justin Harbord to carry word back to merchants that City Hall will help downtown owners to select best colors.

City Fishermen Gear For Coho, Blueback

More than 80 of the 140 commercial fishing boats usually tied up at Victoria fishermen's wharf are out today, cleaning up the spring salmon run in preparation for the season on coho and blueback starting Saturday.

Most of them have gone up the west coast of the Island, trying for the springs in what they describe as a pretty spotty year.

Those who have any catch at all, come in to Victoria to re-ice and sell their fish—they get a few cents more per pound than the up-Island packing plants will give them.

A few have done very well, but the bulk of fishermen are waiting for the coho season before taking on extra men or staying out for more than about 10 days.

"There just aren't too many spring salmon around any more," said Nels Sorboe, owner of the 40-foot Pacific Pride.

'Fly Pickets Anywhere' Longshoremen Threaten

Pickets will be flown to any port in the world touched by ships with "hot" cargo in the event of a longshoremen's strike on the B.C. coast, a union officer said today.

Dockers in the B.C. locals of International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union vote Wednesday to authorize calling a strike at a moment's notice to paralyze shipping on the coast.

Victoria Local 504 business agent Stan Ball—one of a four-man negotiating team dealing with the B.C. Shipping Federation—said the union is prepared to meet the companies again to forestall a strike.

STRONG SUPPORT

But, he said, the international union has promised the B.C. locals full financial and moral support should there be no alternative to striking the 4,500 longshoremen in the province—150 of them here and another 550 up the Island.

If after the start of a strike any ship takes cargo handled by anyone, the ship will be boycotted wherever it touches port, Mr. Ball said.

'We've Only Got Peanuts To Lick It' Says Mooney

Victoria is trying to solve million-dollar traffic headaches with thousand-dollar budgets, Ald. M. H. Mooney said today after a traffic committee meeting.

LOW FLYING CONTEST WITH STORK

A Saanich policeman went stork-raving mad when he stopped a speeding car on Burnside shortly after 9 this morning.

A woman in the front seat was about to give birth to a baby.

Const. Ted Owens immediately hopped back in his patrol car and with siren screaming escorted the car in its race against the stork to St. Joseph's Hospital.

There Mrs. Barbara Planes, Milnes Landing, gave birth to her 12th child shortly after being admitted.

The baby, a boy, weighed 9 pounds 3 ounces, well above the average weight for new babies of 7½ pounds. Both mother and baby are reported doing well.

Policeman Dismounted Just In Time

Six vehicles piled up in a spectacular accident outside Memorial Arena Saturday night minutes before the street was crowded with hundreds of people leaving the weekly pro wrestling show.

But the person who had the closest escape in the accident was Cpl. Don Buie who parked his police motorcycle only a couple of minutes before it was demolished in the crash.

The accident was precipitated when a car driven east on Caledonia by Gordon Dunaway, 1039 Suttie, was in collision with one driven north on Blanshard by Ken Curry, 3380 Quadra.

The force of the collision sent Curry's car out of control and it hit the police motorcycle parked on the traffic island in the centre of Blanshard.

ON TO HOOD

The car then sideswiped another parked vehicle on the other side of the island before ramming into a fourth car. The impact was so great it lifted Curry's car up on to the hood of this car.

The fourth car was then pushed into a fifth parked on the island.

No estimate of the total damage is yet available but the value of the motorcycle alone was $2,500.

"One of our members estimated this morning it would take $15,000,000 to solve all our traffic problems and that's just about the right figure," said Ald. Mooney, committee chairman.

HIGH LEVEL SPAN

Among the expensive improvements needed he listed an inner harbor high level bridge, extension of Blanshard, a bridge over Rock Bay, extension of Superior to Cook, more parking facilities and a one-way street system.

"Fifteen million is an awful lot of money but that indicates the size of the traffic problem facing us," said Ald. Mooney.

"We've only got peanuts so far to lick it."

"The public must first realize that if it wants a first class traffic system, somebody will have to pay for it."

WIDEN QUADRA

Among minor improvements recommended to city works committee this morning was a plan for widening Quadra at the Pandora intersection.

"This would allow us to line up the traffic lanes on Pandora and on Quadra without so much of a jog. It would improve the traffic flow very much at that point," said Ald. Mooney.

He added that a report on installation of traffic signals and their cost at the Fountain Circle is being undertaken "and we hope to have recommendations soon."

100 Carpenters Out of Work Says Union Agent

There are more jobless carpenters in Victoria today than at any time in the past 18 months, local union statistic show.

Records kept by Carpenters' Union business agent James Moffat show 90 men registered for work with six more expected to be laid off tonight and others anticipated as construction jobs close.

He estimates the total unemployed at 100 carpenters, counting those who are not registered.

Shipyards have also laid off carpenter-joiners with termination of projects.

Average figure during 1962 was 25 men per month.

SHOPPING GUIDE

New for the Young Man—Slacks in Stretch Fabric

By PENNY SAVER

The female fashion world no longer has a monopoly on the slim, slim look in slacks. Young men have finally decided to follow along, with the help of manufacturers who have brought out a material called aspen. It is made of nylon and viscose and has same stretch quality as that found in girls' stretch slacks. However, the material for men's slacks is a heavier weight.

Advantage of stretch material for slim line slacks is that it removes the tendency of pants to bag at the knee and pull up at back of knee because of strain of bending and walking.

Only store in town which has stock of these slacks at present also has young salesclerks wearing them. Young man who modeled for Penny had been wearing his for a week, doing window dressing which involves a fair amount of knee bending. The crease was as sharp as ever. Pants might have been freshly pressed five minutes before I arrived (except that my visit was unexpected and I was assured they hadn't been pressed all week!).

Slacks come in popular jet black shade in waist sizes 28-34 and short, medium and tall leg lengths.

Some store has beachcomber jackets to match cotton beachcomber slacks that were so popular last year for the men. But if the girls are smart, they'll pay attention, too. Jackets are of white cotton twill material, have zipper neck opening at front, attached hood with drawstring, kangaroo pocket and drawstring waist. Just the thing for convertible riding or sailing! Keeps hair in place and yet isn't too warm although it allows lots of room for a sweater underneath if you wish.

Jackets for boys and men come in small, medium or large. Boys sizes will fit most girls and are $3.98, men's are $4.95.

Give Penny a ring at 382-3131 if you wish to know where she shopped.

SEW SIMPLE WITH Eunice FarmerDon't Grade Seams That Form Construction Details

"Dear Eunice,"

"I am making a suit with a notched collar. When I graded my seams where the garment joins the collar, they wouldn't stay pressed open. Any suggestions?"

Mrs. J. McK.

Dear Mrs. J. McK.:

Your mistake was in grading these seams. As you know, grading your seams means cutting them in two different widths to avoid a ridge when they are pressed. Only faced edges, such as those down the front of a garment, around collars, necklines, etc., should be graded. These are seams where there is an actual facing stitched to the garment. NEVER grade the seams that form construction details on your garment.

My only suggestion at this point would be that you try catch-stitching the seam allowances down to the under collar. This will leave only one layer of seams free. Let's hope you'll be lucky and that they won't curl up and make the collar lumpy.

SLICK BUTTONHOLES

Mrs. B. G. says: Slip a piece of waxed paper over the area on which you intend making a machine buttonhole. Stitch through the paper and your buttonhole will come out perfect every time. This is especially helpful when you are working on any kind of synthetic fabrics which have a tendency to pull easily.

DEAR ABBY...

A Complete Medical History!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A nurse wrote that a married woman visited a doctor at the hospital regularly and she implied that something shady was going on. I am that woman. For three years I've been seeing the doctor about chronic headaches caused by the nervous tension of an unhappy home life. My doctor, being the most patient, understanding man in the world, has helped me to face my problems and adjust to them. Last year I was dumfounded when my doctor confided to me that his home life was worse than mine. He trusts me and discusses everything with me. His wife recently took an overdose of sleeping pills and he said if he didn't have me to talk to he would have had a nervous breakdown. He helped me when I needed it, and now I can't let him down, no matter what. ABOVE SUSPICION IN SCARSDALE

DEAR ABBY: About the married woman who made a habit of going to the hospital regularly to see a doctor. I think she is my wife. Her weakness has always been doctors. If there is a good-looking doctor within a hundred miles, she'll find him and keep him busy with one complaint or another. Can you tell me if the letter came from Elmina, New York?

DEAR ABBY: Why can't people mind their own business? I am the woman who goes to the hospital so often. The nurse got it all wrong. I'm not seeing a doctor, I'm seeing an engineer. It's not about love, it's about money. We bet the horses together. NOT GUILTY (BRENTWOOD)

DEAR ABBY: Our entire hospital staff is up in arms about the nurse who wrote the letter reporting the married woman who visits the doctor regularly behind closed doors. We nurses at the hospital think you ought to know that no doctor would even attempt to get away with such carryings on in his hospital. In the first place, every minute of the doctor's time is scheduled, and even if he wanted to, he wouldn't have the time. The nurse who wrote that letter has been mad about the doctor for years, and he has refused to look at her. "Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned."

THE BELLES OF ST. MARY'S

DEAR ABBY: I am sure that letter about the married woman visiting the hospital so often to see the doctor was meant for me. I wish you would put this in the paper for that long-nosed nurse to see. Yes, I am seeing a doctor at the hospital frequently, and if you are so curious about whether I am getting a treat instead of a treatment, why don't you ask the doctor? You might be surprised to learn that I am taking a series of shots for a combination of 116 allergies.

Pink and White Bridal Theme

Large standards of pink gladioli, snapdragons and white stocks decorated Centennial United Church for the recent marriage of Diana Marie Logie and Robert Terrance Barker. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of sheer organza with lace appliques highlighting the bouffant skirt. Seed pearls and sequins accented the Chantilly lace bodice and lily point sleeves. Tiered illusion veil misted from a regal crown of lace that was traced with sequins and simulated pearls. Pink garnet roses, stephanotis and trailing ivy were in her cascade bouquet. Rev. S. Parsons officiated at the ceremony and Mrs. M. Wilmshurst was organist. Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Logie, 1773 Denman Street, and Mr. and Mrs. P. Barker, of Newfoundland. Blue brocade gowns with toning whimsies were worn by maid of honor, Miss Donna Logie; bridesmatron, Mrs. L. Sutcliffe, and bridesmaids, Wendy Caddell and Ruth Love. They carried semi-cascade bouquets of white marguerites. Flower girl, Debbie Caddell, wore a pink taffeta frock with a nylon and organza overskirt and headband of pink organza roses. Pink marguerites were in her bouquet. Best man was Lyle Shannon. Ushers were Edward Anderson and Phillip L'Heureux. Three-tier wedding cake and pink marguerites decorated the bride's table at the reception held in the Colony Motel. Toast to the bride was proposed by M. Warawa. Here from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. C. Rosenberg of North Burnaby. Leaving for a honeymoon on the mainland the bride chose a three-piece pink and white knit suit, toning topcoat, white satin petal hat and white accessories. A pink cymbidium orchid corsage complemented her ensemble.

SOLUTION WEDNESDAY

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—

Girls who wear slacks, Please, by all means, Make sure your end Justifies your jeans.

I wrote it a decade ago and each year it gets better—it may even "live." Chancing upon Janet Blair at 534 and B-way, wearing a "hot pink" cashmere sweater and "hot pink" shoes—plus white Capri pants—I was pleased to hear her remark, "I'm very much against pants and slacks on city streets . . . I even believe in going to the supermarket wearing white gloves."

"What gets me," I said, "is girls wearing pants on dates!" eagerly. "They never wear pants on dates!" they never wear any panty girdles under them and they flop around terribly."

Janet was wearing pants out on B-way on a Sunday afternoon, ducking out from an Ed Sullivan rehearsal to have some soup at Lindy's, never expecting to run into Blabbermouth here.

"Forgetting your pants," I said, "you must be happy that your home town of Altoona, Pa., is getting to be a great 'gag town.'"

"Isn't it wonderful?" Janet exclaimed. "When I was there, I never thought of it being a funny name. Now with Jack Benny, Jackie Gleason and everybody making jokes about Altoona, my home town adores it. It gets them on the map."

All we need is a song I bought my Oona from Altoona avicuna and we're all famous . . .

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Arlene Francis is resuming her radio show from her home; she won't tour in "Tchin Tchin" but may cover "Miss Universe" . . . Mamie Van Doren arrived here sporting a two-carat engagement ring from Bo Belinsky . . . Harry Richman (who admits to being 67) said at the Little Club he has an offer to open another Club Richman here.

Tony Bennett saved time at his crowded Town and Country premiere—pre-autographed photos were handed out to his fans . . . Meg Myles has been standing through her role in "Enter Laughing"—she had her knee tapped . . . Pat Boone subbed for Sammy Davis Jr. on the Ed Sullivan TV'er, and Allen and Rossi went on for comedienne Sue Carson (who had laryngitis) . . . Ex-tennis star Gussie Moran was around town with ex-husband Ed Hand . . . Some of the models exhibiting furs at the Four Seasons were practically nude under the pelts; boss Mike Forrest insists the coats look better that way.

Lucille Ball's "I Love Lucy" sidekick, Vivian Vance, is being paged for a B-way musical, "Tiger Lily" . . . A former singing star may lose her home on a court judgment for $6,900 . . . Alan King's next book, which kids the ad agencies, will be titled "The Sacred Cows" . . . The handsome young man in the cafes with Phyllis McGuire is—her nephew.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: N.Y.C.'s traffic commissioner doesn't know what traffic control is till he talks to a man with three daughters and one bathroom.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: After you've talked to enough people, you concluded that a doctor is the only person without a guaranteed cure for a cold.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Babies—that's such a nice way to start people."—Catholic Digest.

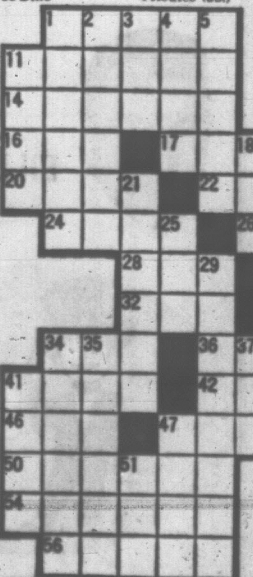

EARL'S PEARLS: The average husband brings his wife flowers when he wants her to remember an occasion, or to forget one.

Vaughn Meader, doing his JFK "press conference" at the Blue Angel, was asked about Gen. de Gaulle. He answered, "Oh, I think he'll come around to our way of thinking—that is, if he wants the REAL Mona Lisa back." That's earl, brother.

18th Century Wreck Found

GANGES—Skin divers, searching for marine specimens off Wallace Island, have located the wreck of an old sailing ship The Panther, lost in the latter part of the 18th century. Club president Don Irwin reported the vessel is about 200 feet long and carried a cargo of coal. The divers returned with an eight-inch brass spike from the wreck. The ship was found when members of the Fathom Phantoms Divers' Club were hunting specimens for the new undersea gardens at Oak Bay marina.

DUNCAN—Representatives of weekly newspapers, at the concluding session of their semi-annual meeting here Saturday, expressed concern over the lack of technical training facilities for the printing industry.

The meeting was attended by 40 delegates from all parts of the province.

The appointment of a standing committee to mark Canada's centenary in 1967 was endorsed at the meeting. The committee was appointed previously by the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association, and Eric Dunning of Haney, is committee chairman.

The following B.C. directors were nominated to serve on the national board: Arvid Lundell, Revelstoke; Eric Dunning, Haney; and A. B. C. Stanley, Nakusp.

The B.C. association will hold its annual convention in Vancouver in mid-October.

DUNCAN—More than 100 persons attended a sheep breeders' field day at the Cowichan Exhibition grounds at Duncan on Saturday.

One of the feature events was a judging competition between members of Cobble Hill 4-H Club.

Winners in the two classes were: purebred, Richard Calverly, Beverly Skeets, Sherry McKay, Doreen Evans and Richard Skeet; Crossbreed, Laurel Donaldson, Janet Hurtak, Bruce Donaldson, Sharon Wilkinson and Gail Wilkinson.

William MacGillivray, deputy minister of agriculture, also gave a talk on how to choose and use a good ram for Suffolk, Cheviot and Southdown sheep.

A lamb market demonstration was held during the day. The judging of four local lambs by spectators was followed by a discussion in the evening, on the same animals' carcasses, chaired by John Kneale of the federal department of agriculture.

Also speaking at the field day were Dr. W. D. Kitts, Dr. C. C. Cunningham and R. L. Wilkinson.

COURTENAY—MP Tom Barnett (Comox-Alberni) has received a proposal for public docking facilities at Gold River on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

Public docking is needed to aid boat travel in the Nootka Sound area, he MP said in a release issued from Ottawa.

The new request has been made to the federal department of public works, he said.

Mr. Barnett said the previous government had investigated the need for docking facilities at his request last fall but had dropped the matter in February.

"Industry is something we don't want in View Royal at all," said Lloyd Young, president of the View Royal Ratepayers and Community Association.

He also said the View Royal volunteer fire department did not have the equipment to deal with the kind of hazard the operation would involve.

The applicant is Industrial Propane Ltd. It is seeking the rezoning of rural land to permit construction of a propane storage tank between Atkins Road and the CNR right-of-way near the intersection of Atkins.

BUILDING?

For 10 Years, Most of the New Homes in Victoria Have Been Built by Vickery Construction Ltd.

WHY?

They Are Better Built—and COST LESS!

Because of its size, Vickery Construction hires specialists. Where it is usually necessary for a carpenter to install cribbing, frame, finish, build cabinets, etc., Vickery Construction has specialists for each of these jobs. Being specialists they do their work better, more efficiently and with a resulting lower cost.

Because of the volume of work, Vickery Construction can purchase materials directly from the manufacturer in large quantities at large discounts not available to the smaller builder who buys through the usual secondary sources.

Vickery Construction saves you money by doing most of the work itself. Other house builders must hire sub-contractors.

Through its many years of constructing homes, Vickery Construction has built a high reputation in Victoria with Building Inspectors, Mortgage Company Inspectors, Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation Inspectors — and above all, its customers.

Vickery Construction gives the most extensive written house construction guarantee available in B.C.

Vickery Construction has led Victoria in better housing design. It has probably the largest design service available to you at no cost to you.

It sounds ridiculous, but new Vickery Construction homes generally cost less than second hand homes which are similar in size and features.

SEPARATE COMPLETELY

'Black Good, White Bad' To Negro Muslim Leader

What do the Black Muslims want? Are they serious about demanding a portion of the United States for their own Negro nation? Belman Morin, who won one of his two Pulitzer Prizes for coverage of the 1958 school integration riots at Little Rock, Ark., talked to Black Muslim leader Muhammad Elijah at his home here—and offers the following interview as an insight into what the leader of the extremist cult thinks the future holds.

MUHAMMAD ELIJAH
... wants a nation

By BELMAN MORIN PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—"By nature, the black man was created good. By nature, the white man was created evil."

Therefore, says Muhammad Elijah, the Negro must separate himself completely from the white society in the United States.

Muhammad Elijah is the leader of the Black Muslims. To thousands of Negroes—their number is never stated—he is "the messenger."

His features are thin and ascetic. The bone-structure of his face is delicate. He has a gentle manner and speaks in soft, measured cadences. Only his large eyes reflect the fire within. They glowed with a deeper intensity when he said:
"The situation will get worse.
It is due to the merciless treatment accorded our people."

TRAVELS WIDELY

He lives simply, in a pretty but unpretentious bungalow in Phoenix. From there, he travels widely, spreading his doctrines—the complete separation, not the integration, of Negroes and whites in the United States.

He does not preach violence.
"The Messenger" often answers by indirection.

"The Bible teaches us to love good and to hate evil. I can't love man (the white man) because he is the very essence of evil."

What about the white who is trying to help the Negro today, to obtain his civil rights and full equality?

This man, says Muhammad Elijah, is "one in 1,000," and he will be "rewarded." He adds,
"but he's still a member of the other 999. He's a member of the evil family, just the same."

One of his basic doctrines—the autonomous Negro nation—has not been fully understood, he says. He explains the two alternatives:

'LET US GO BACK'

"First, let us go back where we came from (Africa).
"But if we can't be sent back where we came from, why not do this:

Let the government set up some territory, or a state, for ourselves. Help us to produce the necessities that we are not able to produce for ourselves.
Give us 20 or 25 years (to become self sufficient).
"If we don't, it's not the master's (the white man's) fault.
Then you can come in with your guns and kill us all."

This Negro nation, he says, is the ultimate goal of the Black Muslims.

He took the first step in Detroit in 1931 when he was 35.
One day, he met a man named Wallace Fard.

"I recognized him to be God

Smash-Grab Thief Gets $800 Worth of Watches

An inventory check has revealed that watches worth $800 were stolen in a smash and grab raid overnight Friday at Little and Taylor, jewelers, 1209 Douglas.

A thief, who broke a front side window of the store with a rock, grabbed eight ladies' and seven men's watches.

Another break-in was discovered downtown Sunday afternoon. Hy Grade Radio, 815 View, lost a television set valued at $300. Entry here was gained by breaking a window and then unlatching a door.

Hail Hits Windsor

WINDSOR, Ont. (UPI)—A violent hail and rain storm caused widespread damage here and in the Detroit area late Sunday night.

Hydro and communications lines were torn down in some areas as winds clocked up to 77 miles an hour roared through the city.

Cancer in Children Shows Alarming Gain

MONTREAL (CP)—More school children will die of cancer this year than of any other disease, says Dr. Jacques Sylvestre, yet many parents don't realize their children can have cancer.

Dr. Sylvestre, medical director of the Canadian Cancer Society, says one of the main causes of the high mortality rate is "the unhappy fact that too many childhood tumors are treated too late."

"Too often today we hear the remark, 'I did not know my child—could have—cancer.' If more parents realized that children may have cancer just as adults do and acted promptly father and mother of both the black and white man?"

In 1942, Muhammad Elijah went to jail for refusing to register for the draft. He was asked whether, today, the Black Muslims would fight for the United States in case of war.

"I can only answer for myself," he said. "I can't tell what the other man would do. I have nothing to fight for here."

What about the action of the federal government in the field of civil rights, the U.S. Supreme Court decisions, and the rulings of many federal courts on behalf of the Negroes?

He says these actions were taken because of criticisms from around the world, and that they were all a result of self-interest on the part of the government—"to save her own credit," as he put it.

Since their direction is toward separation of the race, the Muslims scorn Negro organizations and individuals who are working in the opposite direction.

The Muslims have been condemned as "black bigots" and "regressionists" by other Negroes.

But it appears that they are rapidly gaining converts.

Canadian Ship Collides With Dutch Vessel

CAPE VINCENT, N.Y. (CP)— A heavily damaged Dutch freighter was tied up in harbor here today, her pumps working mightily to prevent her sinking following a collision Sunday night with a Canadian grain carrier 10 times her weight.

The 2,300-ton Prins Alexander, earlier feared to be sinking, was holding steady at a breakwater in 20 feet of water.
The pumps kept up with water flooding into her hold, although she continued to list. Her cargo of general goods was heavily damaged.

No one was injured in the collision between the Prins Alexander and the 20,000-ton Silver Isle, one of the largest vessels in the Great Lakes trade whose 730-foot length is the maximum that can fit into St. Lawrence Seaway locks.

Racial Issue Blamed On U.S. Forces

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Attorney-General Leslie R. Curtis says RCMP reports indicate "minor" racial trouble at Stephenville, Nfld., "has been caused mainly through racial discrimination on the part of United States personnel" from a nearby U.S. Air Force base.

The RCMP reports arose out of an incident May 25 when about 20 Negro servicemen were reported barred from the Clover Club, a Stephenville social club.

Mr. Curtis, in a statement in the Newfoundland legislature Friday, said clubs and restaurants "have been trying to do their best to avoid any discrimination but they have naturally sometimes felt obliged to yield to pressure from the majority of their patrons, namely, white servicemen."

Mr. Curtis said Harmon U.S.
Air Force base official had been "in consultation with the proprietors" of the main clubs and restaurants, and "everything possible will be done by all parties to avoid any further attempt at racial discrimination."

Mr. Curtis said the police have knowledge of three instances involving discrimination.

Cubism Inventor Dies in Studio

PARIS (AP)—French painter Jacques Villon, 88, known as the inventor of cubism and a patriarch of modern art, died Sunday at his studio in nearby Pu-teaux after a long illness.

Born into a family of Normandy artists, Villon changed his name from the original Emile Duchamp to avoid confusion with his brothers and sisters.

He came to Paris to study law but dropped it in favor of art. He entered the Cormon Studio where his predecessors had been Gauguin, Van Gogh and Toulouse-Lautrec. During several difficult years he drew humorous designs for newspapers.

ROBBED PAIR EJECT THIEF ... AND MONEY

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A pharmacist and his clerk caught a bandit here Sunday —but threw him out the door without thinking to recover the money he had taken.

The robber, a Negro, fled with approximately $100.

Police said the bandit, who had a toy gun, demanded money and Harry Chodorow, 53, owner of the pharmacy, gave him the cash.

Chodorow then took another look at the bandit's gun, decided it was a toy and told the bandit so. The latter pulled out a knife but Chodorow and Julius Palinski, 17, a clerk, overpowered him, police said.

"We led him to the door and threw him out," Chodorow related afterwards. "I became so excited by the incident I didn't think to hold him for the police. I also forgot to get back the money I had handed him."

Planners To Revive City Group

A reactivated Capital Region branch of the Community Planning Association of Canada will elect a new slate of officers at a public meeting Thursday in Holyrood House at 8 p.m.

It is two years since the branch functioned in Victoria.
Of immediate concern are the agricultural lands of Saanich Peninsula, Victoria University district, high apartments and the Bastion Square project, said Mrs. B. Levitz Pack-ford, one of the people interested in having the group function again.

The meeting was called by former vice-president of the Victoria group, Norman Worsley.

Mrs. Packford said members will try to educate themselves and the public in community planning, and to promote the use of community plans, some of which already exist.

It is hoped the branch will work closely with local planners, groups interested in special developments such as Bastion Square rebuilding and Capital Region Planning Board.

Speaker at the meeting this week will be the planner for Richmond municipality.

Russian Man of Mystery In Profumo-Keeler Affair

By RAYMOND E. PALMER
LONDON (AP)—Capt. Yev-geny (Eugene) Ivanov is the real mystery man in the Profumo affair.

He has been described as a Russian playboy, a diplomatic troublemaker — and a Soviet spy. Officially, he served as assistant naval attaché at the Soviet embassy.

Like former war minister John Profumo, with whom he shared Christine Keeler's favors, Ivanov was a married man. He came to London with his wife in 1960 for a three-year term. He was recalled to Moscow in December, 1962, shortly after Christine's discarded West Indian lover, John Edgcombe, fired a pistol at her and shot her name into the headlines.

According to diplomatic lists, the 37-year-old Ivanov was a captain (third rank) when he arrived in Britain. Before he returned to Moscow he had been promoted to captain (second rank).

Ivanov was a big spender. He cultivated a wide circle of British friends—something few Soviet diplomats are allowed to do.

LIKED HIGH SPOTS

He was a rugged Russian—haughty, chaste, and strong.
He was a hard drinker. He liked taking Christine Keeler out to the bright spots, winning and dining the red-haired party girl.

Ivanov is believed to have been a full-time member of the Russian military intelligence service, the GRU.

But his friend Stephen Ward, who has been charged with living on the earnings of prostitution, said he refused to believe Ivanov was a spy.

"In fact he was the opposite," Ward said. "During last October's Cuba crisis, Ivanov was the one man who maintained contact between Fidel Castro's regime and the West.

Ward said Ivanov relayed to President Kennedy an offer by Premier Khrushchev to order the return of Soviet vessels steaming toward the U.S. blockade of Cuba in exchange for a summit conference.

Ward also has said that Ivanov acted as intermediary in a Soviet move for talks with U.S. officials at the height of the Cuban crisis.

Front Page Ad Pushed Scott Novel in 1816

A new novel by Sir Walter Scott, "Colin St. Clyde," is advertised on the front page of a British newspaper called The Courier, belonging to Ernest Foster of 2835 Adelaide, Victoria.

Printed on Aug. 21, 1816, the newspaper announces that Scott's latest novel was "published this day" in three volumes priced at 15 shillings.

The Courier also contains a despatch from the island of St. Helena recording that Napoleon Bonaparte — sent there in exile after his defeat at the Battle of Waterloo—had refused to receive any visitors.

INHERITED

Mr. Foster inherited this yellowing journal—and another of still more ancient vintage — from his uncle, Robert Faulkner, a former Canadian Pacific employee, who died here four years ago.

The Manchester Mercury of Jan. 19, 1908, reports a British Admiralty trial in which William Chapman, late captain of the slave ship Apollo, was convicted of "the wilful murder of Robert

5,000 WATCH EXECUTION IN CONGO

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI)—The Congo, faced with a resurgence of terrorism and gangsterism, Saturday hanged Alphonse Ngabilla for the attempted murder of a Belgian restaurant owner.

The Congo's first public hanging.

A crowd of 5,000 watched as Ngabilla went calmly to the gallows then tried to block the execution by getting a foothold on the edge of the platform. One of the two black-hooded hangmen pushed him through the trapdoor.

It was the first such execution since the country gained its independence from Belgium on July 1, 1960. Justice Minister Justin Bomboka said it was carried out to serve as warning to "all evil-doers."

Nakusp Youth Wins B.C. Rodeo Title

Ken Scheelar, 19, of Nakusp, won the British Columbia finals of the Teen-age Safe Driving Rodeo on Saturday, competing with 25 others from British Columbia and the Yukon.

Norm Evans, of Duncan, took second place, and third spot went to Dave Stevenson, of Haney.

Victoria entry, John Howroyd, finished in the top ten.

Contestants were put through their paces all day Saturday at the Esquimalt Sports Centre parking lot, bucking a skill test that covered driving forward and in reverse, manoeuvring a tight obstacle course, and parking.

$100 PRIZE

Winner of the annual event sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce gets $100 cash, a trophy, and a chance to compete in the national finals at Quebec City in July.

Examiners from the British Columbia motor vehicles branch and local police forces administered the tests to the teen-age entries, all winners of local contests in their home areas.

Prizes were presented Saturday evening at a banquet and dance held for the contestants at the Tally Ho.

School Books In Volume Given to Drive

Two Victoria housewives, who are appealing for school books to help the children of Nigeria, have received 25 boxes of books from the Greater Victoria School Board.

"We are hoping to get hundreds more," said Mrs. Daphne Templeton, of 1243 Richardson. "If the cost of freight to ship the books to Nigeria is too great for us we are hoping the Royal Canadian Navy will help."

Mrs. Templeton and Mrs. Dorothy Robertson, 531 Kelvin, opened their appeal for books suitable for elementary school children after reading of the work of two Canadian women who are married to teachers in Nigeria.

"Each book will be stamped as a gift from Canada and I think this will be a great influence for good will in Nigeria," Mrs. Temple said.

Navy to Seek Officer Cadets For New Course in September

At least 63 officer cadets will begin a special new course at HMC Dockyard in September as part of a stepped-up navy recruiting program.

The navy is seeking junior officers for ships and aircraft to fill vacancies caused by the retirement of large numbers of Second World War veterans. They are also needed for a $374,000,000 frigate-building program.

The new modified officer cadet-training plan will enable young men to qualify as naval aviators or sailors and receive a salary of $235 a month while in training.

AT VENTURE

Facilities of HMCS Venture will be used for the plan.

The RCN will accept applications for seven-year short service commissions from young men between the ages of 17 and 24 with a minimum of junior matriculation or its equivalent in general or technical courses.

"The upper age limit was formerly 20 and academic eligibility was restricted to junior matriculation standing," an RCN spokesman said.

The four-month course includes naval indoctrination, officer development and language training in French and English.

GO TO SEA

On completion of the course, officers electing to serve in ships will go to sea for training in navigation and seamanship.

This will be followed by advanced training ashore.

Air crew candidates, after the initial four-month course, will take 42 weeks' flying training with the RCAF, followed by 24 weeks' advanced flying training with the RCN to prepare them for appointments to naval air squadrons.

Primarily, the short service officer plan will provide officers with watchkeeping qualifications for ships of the fleet and aircrew officers for the navy's mixed wing aircraft and helicopter squadrons.

Employment in other services, such as supply and administration, is also possible.

Cadets' initial salary will be $235 a month compared to $73 a month under the former plan. They will receive an increase of $86 a month on promotion to sub-lieutenant after 22 months' service.

Dear Sirs:

Right now, we have 13 Chevrolet trucks on the road, hauling plywood, resin and general cartage in the Vancouver area. Our 80 series are pulling payloads of over 30,000 pounds over some pretty tough grades. With that 409 V8, the 5-speed transmission and 2-speed rear axle, we found that we cut gas consumption considerably.

We do all our own maintenance work and we found that they require less motor work than other trucks we have had. Also, the men in the shop tell me that they are much easier to work on.

Top-Level Test-Ban Parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy announced today that he, Soviet Premier Khrushchev and British Prime Minister Macmillan will send special negotiators to a high-level conference in Moscow in mid-July for a new effort to conclude a nuclear test-ban treaty.

In announcing this new breakthrough in the long and frustrating test-ban exchanges, Kennedy also declared an immediate ban on any U.S. nuclear tests in the atmosphere so long as other countries do not test. This put the specific question of a new round of nuclear explosions in the atmosphere up to Khrushchev.

"We will not be the first to resume," the president said in an address prepared for commencement exercises at American University. "Such a declaration is no substitute for a formal binding treaty—but I hope it will help us achieve one."

NOT 'SUMMIT'

The understanding on the Moscow meeting is that it will not be a summit session nor a foreign ministers conference but rather a meeting of representatives of Khrushchev, Kennedy and Macmillan, the representatives to be men who command their highest confidence.

"Our hopes must be tempered with the caution of history," Kennedy said of the conference to break the nuclear deadlock. "But with our hopes go the hopes of all mankind."

"Finally, my fellow Americans, let us re-examine our attitude toward peace and freedom here at home. The quality and spirit of our own society must justify and support our efforts abroad."

BURNING ISSUE

In this obvious reference to burning U.S. civil rights issues, Kennedy declared:

"It is the responsibility of the executive branch at all levels of government—local, state and national—to provide and protect... freedom for all citizens by all means within their authority. It is the responsibility of the legislative branch at all levels, wherever that authority is not adequate, to make it adequate. And it is the responsibility of all citizens in all sections to respect the rights of all others and to respect the law of the land."

Kennedy said of the new agreement with Khrushchev to try for a nuclear test ban that it is true no treaty can provide "absolute security against the risks of deception and evasion."

"But it can—if it is sufficiently effective in its enforcement and if it is sufficiently in the interest of its signers—offer far more security and far fewer risks than an unbalanced, uncontrolled, unpredictable arms race."

With the announcement here of the Moscow conference, it was understood that preparations of U.S. and British plans for the meeting will be the major subject of discussion between Kennedy and Macmillan when they meet at the end of June.

GAS SHELLS CAUGHT, HURLED BACK AT LAW

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (Reuters)—Police using tear gas battled for two hours with demonstrators outside parliament today—the 53rd day of British Guiana's general strike. Scores of persons were arrested.

At points, the crowds drove police away by catching the tear-gas shells and hurling them back.

'Are You Ready to Die' Bomb Witness Asked

WIRE BRIEFS

Bomb Victim Better

VANCOUVER (CP)—Wayne Fabris, 15, is in good condition in hospital today recovering from injuries suffered in the explosion of a home-made bomb Saturday.

Police said he and a friend, David Laird, 14, made gunpowder and packed it into a water pipe. It exploded in Fabris' hands as he was screwing a cap on the end of the pipe.

Sugar Price Rises

MONTREAL (CP)—Two major Montreal sugar refineries today announced increases in the wholesale price of sugar. A third company said it is contemplating a similar increase.

Homeowner to Gain

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government will make a direct payment of $500 to the first owner of winter-built houses, Labor Minister MacEachen announced today in the Commons.

Bridge Bomb Threat

OGDENBURG, N.Y. (UPI)—The Thousand Island International Bridge was closed for an hour early today while authorities searched for a bomb.

Access Allowed

PORT ALBERT (CP)—New Democratic party MLA John Squire of Albert says private cars are to get limited access to the private road between Campbell River and Gold River.

MONTREAL (CP)—Georges Schoeters, 33-year-old student, testified today that he was an instigator and the co-ordinator of the terrorist activities of Le Front de Liberation Quebecois.

MONTREAL (CP)—Fifteen persons held as material witnesses in the bombing death of an army night watchman were brought into a heavily guarded courtroom today as an inquest into the death reopened.

It was the first time that the witnesses, some of them held by police for more than a week, were identified.

The witnesses, who entered the courtroom in groups and surrounded by policemen, were identified as:

Georges Schoeters, his wife Jeanne, Jacques Giroux, Pierre Schneider, Francois Gagnon, Gabriel Hudon, Roger Tetreault, Richard Bizier, Eugene Pilote, Mario Bachand, Gilles Pruneau, Yves Labonte, Raymond Villeneuve, Alain Brouillard and Denis Lamoureux.

Outside the court, police identified all 15 as French-Canadians except Schoeters, 33, a student, a native of Belgium and now a Canadian.

The others, as identified by police: Jeanne Schoeters, 25, X-ray technician; Giroux, 19, student; Schneider, 19, office boy; Gagnon, 19, student; Hudon, 20, draughtsman; Tetreault, 22, unemployed reporter; Bizier, 20, student; Pilote, 20, newspaper proofreader; Bachand, 20, student; Pruneau, 19, clerk; Labonte, 18, clerk; Villeneuve, 18, student; Brouillard, 19, student; Lamoureux, 20, student.

Most of the witnesses sat quietly, staring straight ahead or at the floor. A few chatted with the policemen guarding them.

The inquest resumed on a quiet note, except for a brief but heated argument over whether witnesses should be questioned in French or English.

After the Crown said it had no objection to the testimony of an English-speaking witness being translated into French, the inquest was delayed for a few minutes while an official interpreter was called.

The death of Wilfred Vincent O'Neill, 65, has been blamed on Le Front de Liberation Quebecois, a self-styled group of "suicide commandos" that has claimed it is seeking Quebec's independence by violence.

Wearing a dark-green sweat shirt, he testified after asking protection of the court.

He said he surrendered to the city police in the company of his father last Friday.

He testified Raymond Villeneuve approached him about an organization called Réseau de Resistance, but said he did not join it. He said the RR has folded.

He said that toward the end of January or early February he met Villeneuve and that there was question of forming another group called Le Front de Liberation Quebecois.

He said he later received a phone call asking him to go to a restaurant on mid-town St. Denis Street where he was invited to become part of the FLQ.

"Did you join?" asked Crown prosecutor Guy Desjardins.

"Join is not the right word; they don't give membership cards," said Brouillard.

He said he spoke about the movement to friends of his whom he identified as Alain Gabriel, Francois Giroux and Jean Cloutier.

At the restaurant Brouillard said he met Georges Schoeters, Gabriel Hudon, Raymond Villeneuve, Jacques Giroux, and continued on Page 3.

Mac Calls for Probe Of Profumo Security

Ward Denied Bail

LONDON (Reuters) — Dr. Stephen Ward, the London society osteopath who is a central figure in Britain's "douce vita" scandal, was ordered held in custody until June 17 when he appeared in court today on a charge of living on immoral earnings.

Police opposed bail when Ward, 50, appeared in court. Chief Inspector Samuel Herbert said "there are still a number of inquiries to be made."

Extra police had to be called to control crowds outside the courtroom when Ward appeared.

CONSIDER MORE CHARGES

Police told the hearing there were likely to be a "number of more serious charges," and said if Ward were allowed bail he might interfere with prosecution witnesses.

Inspector Herbert said that when Ward was charged and cautioned he replied: "Oh my God, how dreadful. I shall deny it. No one will come forward and say it is true."

Ward will be brought back to court for a further preliminary hearing next Monday—the day the House of Commons opens a critical debate on Profumo's illicit love life.

Ward can, if he wishes, make a separate application for bail before a judge of the high court.

DESCRIBES ARREST

Inspector Herbert told of arresting Ward in Watford, North London, soon after mid-day Saturday. He said he saw Ward and told him:

"You know who I am. You also know that I have been making inquiries about you for the last few weeks."

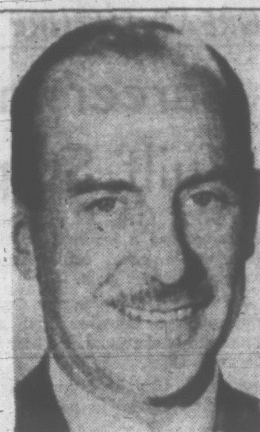

"As a result of those inquiries I am now arresting you for living wholly or in part on the immoral earnings of prostitution on diverse dates since Jan. 1, 1961."

No women were mentioned in the charge. Inspector Herbert told the court he had been investigating Ward for about eight weeks and expected to take two or three weeks more before presenting his case in full.

Two Scouts were killed by the explosion of a similar device.

The latest bomb was found by Scouts Gerald Kuch and Dale Bradford, who reported the finding to RCMP.

The army in August will start a full-scale search for bombs in areas used for manoeuvres in the Second World War.

Harkness Dropped By Tories

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Former defence minister Douglas Harkness has been left off the Conservative party's nominations for membership to the Commons defence committee.

This means he will not be a member of the committee. He sits in the House as a Progressive Conservative.

Mr. Harkness told reporters today that he found it "strange" that he had not been named a member of the committee by his party.

He pointed out that he had considerable experience in the portfolio of defence and consequently had a good "background" on defence matters.

OPPOSED LEADER

Mr. Harkness told newsmen that his exclusion from his party's membership on the defence committee was probably due to the fact that his views on nuclear weapons opposed those of Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker.

He found it "very strange" that he should be excluded in view of his extensive background in the defence field and the fact he could make "useful contributions" to the committee.

The members of the commission from the Conservative Party will be: Gordon Churchill, who was named defence minister by the Diefenbaker government after Mr. Harkness had resigned from that post.

Crisis Grows For U.K. Tories

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Macmillan has asked his chief legal adviser, the Lord Chancellor, to look into the security aspects of the Profumo affair and a report is expected this week, it was disclosed today.

The announcement of Macmillan's investigation came after he returned from a brief vacation in Scotland this morning to face the political storm which blew up last week over a scandal in his government.

The prime minister met his deputy, R. A. Butler, early in the day.

The Conservative party leader in the House of Lords, Lord Hailsham, was also one of Macmillan's first callers, along with party whip Martin Redmayne, who is responsible for House of Commons discipline.

When he left the prime minister's office, Hailsham told reporters: "There are lots of things I would like to say, but there is nothing I am going to say."

It was understood Macmillan asked the Lord Chancellor,

That was before John Profumo, 48, then war minister, resigned after admitting he lied to Parliament in insisting there was nothing improper in his relationship with girl-about-town Christine Keeler, 21.

Opposition Labor party leader Harold Wilson is expected to get a copy of Dilhorne's report, but whether it will be made public depends on its contents.

Security chiefs, who were given the documents from Macmillan, were quoted as saying there was nothing new in the information Wilson sent to the prime minister.

The Labor party has demanded and been granted a full debate on the security aspects "in view of recent events" as soon as Parliament reassembles next Monday.

Investigations by the Lord Chancellor are rare, but have been ordered in government crises before and usually have been followed by a special tribunal of inquiry.

Macmillan refused to comment on the Profumo affair and gave no public indication of concern. But the scandal rock-ing Britain could spell his downfall as Conservative party leader. His chance of survival depends largely on the showing he makes before Parliament next Monday when asked to explain his role in the background to the intrigue.

If Macmillan fails to give satisfactory answers, one parliamentary informant predicted, there is little doubt he will be pressured to resign.

London newspapers said Macmillan was facing one of the biggest crises in the last two decades of British politics.

Some newspapers suggested Conservative party whip Martin Redmayne, the party's parliamentary manager, might be blamed because the government did not seem to know the full details of the Profumo affair until it burst into the headlines.

Threat From Conservatives

The gravest threat came from some of Macmillan's own Conservatives who accused him of negligence and naivete in not unearthing the true story of the Profumo affair earlier.

The independent Financial Times reported strong pressure within the Conservative party for the government to publish the known facts in the affair before the debate next week.

The Daily Mail, a Conservative newspaper, said two new shocks faced Macmillan: The threatened publication of private correspondence between Macmillan and Opposition Leader Harold Wilson on the Profumo affair and the startling drop in the Conservative party's popularity.

Some political sources speculated Macmillan might not wait another week to put his case to the nation.

Macmillan could feel that questions which remain are damaging to the government and himself while they go unanswered.

Principally the questions are these:

Was it true that security services knew about Profumo and Miss Keeler as well as Miss Keeler and Ivanov?

If they did, was Macmillan informed? And if he wasn't why wasn't he?

He must have heard the whispers which just about every other member of Parliament had heard. If so, why did he not check further?

Labor Party leader Wilson, now in Moscow, was reported planning to publish private exchanges he had with Macmillan after Profumo gave his oblique statement to Parliament.

The reports implied that Wilson warned the prime minister but was ignored.

Governor to Stand Alone

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Governor George Wallace clung defiantly to his segregation stand at the risk of a jail term as the white supremist headed for an imminent integration crisis at the University of Alabama.

The two Negro students he has sworn to turn back at the university doors returned to Alabama after a weekend in New York to await the showdown.

"We shall defend our rights and we shall dare to do so," the 43-year-old governor said Sunday night.

"I am going to stand for you at the university," he told the people of Alabama in a radio-television broadcast.

inforce the civilian officers—if necessary.

Wallace said in his broadcast that to send "a loyal southern governor to jail" would amount to military dictatorship.

He was mindful of a federal court injunction forbidding him to carry out his promised blockade of the two Negroes here Tuesday and the third Negro Thursday at Huntsville.

And he was aware that his defiance of the court order might bring federal troops to the campus, just as the resistance of other governors did at Little Rock, Ark., in 1958, and at Oxford, Miss., last year.

Wallace made clear, however, that his massive army of civilian police and the standby guard units will be used to prevent violence and not to bar the Negroes.

EGYPT'S PLAN FOR ISRAEL?

Destruction by Radiation

BASEL, Switzerland (Reuters) — An Austrian nuclear scientist told a court here today that a German working in Egypt planned to load rockets capable of destroying Israel with strontium-90 and radioactive cobalt.

The scientist, Dr. Otto Joklik, 41, is one of two alleged Israeli agents on trial here on charges of attempting to coerce a German rocket expert working for Egypt.

Joklik told the court he was invited in the autumn of 1961 to work in Egypt in the "physical and chemical sector," which he believed was for medical purposes only.

He quit his job in the summer of 1962 when he decided Egypt's "intention was the extermination of the Jews."

Asked whether he had other reasons for quitting, he said: "It became personally too dangerous for me."

OBTAINED FROM CANADA Under questioning by the court president, Joklik said Dr. Wolfgang Pilz, head of a group of German scientists working for Egypt, obtained strontium-90 and cobalt-60 from Britain and Canada to be used to load rockets.

Joklik said he was assured he would receive 10 per cent of the $4,000,000 which represented the cost of the radioactive material to be supplied to Egypt.

Joklik and Josef Ben Gal, 33, an Israeli government employee, are charged with having made "grave threats" against professor Paul Gore George, 56, a German electronics expert now in Egypt.

The prosecution alleges Ben Gal threatened that Professor George "would regret it bitterly if he did not immediately desist from his present activities on behalf of the Egyptian government."

TARGET: AIR SUPREMACY FOR JETS OVER BIRDS

By FRANK BUTTER

A new air force is being mustered in an attempt to win air supremacy for the jets over the birds.

Canada's first squadron of falcons will go into action soon.

Operation Falcon will be tried out at Vancouver's International Airport—one of Canada's busiest, for jets and birds.

Seagulls, pheasants and ducks inexplicably through the runways, posing a serious hazard to aircraft.

Why do they like airports? "I think they like the feel of warm asphalt under their feet," says Patricia Bay airport manager A. J. Knowland.

The falcon experiments won't be tried here, where the bird problem is only seasonal, he said, but any solution would be hailed at every airport in Canada.

Frank Beebe, B.C.'s leading authority on falconry, an illustrator for the Provincial Museum, is acting as special adviser to the National Research Council for Operation Falcon.

He said the object is to set various types of falcon loose on gulls. The falcons will probably be trained on Vancouver Island, with his assistance.

"The idea is not to kill a great mass of gulls," he said. "The idea is to make an example of one or two gulls."

Gulls, extremely talkative among themselves, would then spread the word that the airport is "unhealthy," and stay away.

University of B.C. research assistant Dave Hancock, of Wesley Road, Elk Lake, of the project, is now in the Queen Charlotte Islands recruiting Peregrine falcons.

Mr. Beebe said the falcon squadron will probably include six to eight Peregrines, his own Gyr falcon, largest and strongest of the falcon family, two European Goshawks from Germany, and one or more red tailed hawk, a B.C. bird.

He calls falcons "one of the most magnificent creatures ever evolved on this planet."

Aviation experts have been trying for years to rid runways of birds.

In Britain during the Second World War falcons were flown down runways to frighten—but not to kill—startlings, but the experiment did not prove too successful.

In Holland stuffed birds were placed on runways while loudspeakers shrilled their cries in an attempt to clear the way for jets.

In Vancouver officials have been using a cannon, but the birds have become impervious to its loud reports, and even sit on it.

Several serious mishaps have been caused by birds.

Two years ago some pheasants were sucked into a DC8 jet engine at Vancouver. It cost $300,000 to repair. In Boston in 1960, 61 persons died in a runway crash blamed on a flock of birds.

SOOKE GIRL SHOOTSELF

An 18-year-old Sooke girl shot herself to death with a rifle in her house Sunday while her parents were out working in the garden.

She was found by her parents in the house on Kemp Road at about 3:30 p.m., rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital by West Coast Ambulance.

She died in hospital about two hours later.

Acting coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre who conducted an inquiry into the girl's death today came to a formal verdict of suicide.

The girl was shot by a .303 rifle in the abdomen.

City Hall Move To Courthouse Given Approval

Temporary Home For Nearly Year

Bastion Square Courthouse will be the temporary City Hall for almost a year while the present civic headquarters is renovated and expanded.

A deal for purchase of the courthouse from the provincial government, informally approved by both sides, was revealed at the weekend.

City officials hope that their 10-months' sojourn in Bastion Square will spark a revitalization of the area before they move back into new quarters in the Centennial Victoria Square project.

Under terms of the deal the city will pay the provincial government $5,000 and turn over four lots it owns in James Bay, within the legislative precinct.

It was worked out between Public Works Minister W. N. Chant and a civic committee of Mayor R. B. Wilson, Ald. A. W. Toone and Ald. Arthur Dowell. Official ratification by cabinet and city council is expected.

$20,000 IN BUDGET

The city earlier had budgeted $20,000 for temporarily relocating civic staff while the present City Hall is under reconstruction. The transfer of offices will be made in late summer and actual work on City Hall will begin in the fall as a winter works project.

Ald. Toone, chairman of the urban renewal committee, said the city will have plenty of time to plan the future use of the courthouse.

Leading expectation is that it will become the home of the Maritime Museum of B.C. while the city-owned Duncan Building alongside it becomes an arts academy.

BOOST GARAGE

Besides putting people into the habit of visiting Bastion Square, the temporary location of civic offices in the courthouse also is expected to give a big boost to the nearby Langley civic parking garage now nearing completion.

The 68-year-old courthouse is one-third larger than the City Hall and will require a minimum of clean-up and repairs to prepare it for the transfer of offices.

Planning already is under way for creating a small park in the square.

THESES Praised

Both Mayor Wilson and Ald. Toone referred glowingly to a thesis on preservation and redevelopment of Bastion Square by Nicholas Bawlf who graduated this spring with an architecture degree from University of B.C.

He suggested government leadership would bring enterprise support in re-establishing the square as a bustling commercial area while retaining its old Victoria flavor.

Mayor Wilson said the thesis came at an appropriate moment.

"Mr. Bawlf's findings reinforce the thinking of those at City Hall who believe the Bastion Square area has historic significance and retains much of the unique character of the early west coast."

$15 Million Problem Faces Traffic Board

'We've Only Got Peanuts To Lick It' Says Mooney

Victoria is trying to solve million-dollar traffic headaches with thousand-dollar budgets, Ald. M. H. Mooney said today after a traffic committee meeting.

LOW FLYING CONTEST WITH STORK

A Saanich policeman went stork-raving mad when he stopped a speeding car on Burnside shortly after 9 this morning.

A woman in the front seat was about to give birth to a baby.

Const. Ted Owens immediately hopped back in his patrol car and with siren screaming escorted the car in its race against the stork to St. Joseph's Hospital.

There Mrs. Barbara Planes, Milnes Landing, gave birth to her 12th child shortly after being admitted.

HIGH LEVEL SPAN

Among the expensive improvements needed he listed an Inner Harbor high level bridge, extension of Blanshard, a bridge over Rock Bay, extension of Superior to Cook, more parking facilities and a one-way street system.

"Fifteen million is an awful lot of money but that indicates the size of the traffic problem facing us," said Ald. Mooney. "We've only got peanuts so far to lick it."

WIDEN QUADRA

Among minor improvements recommended to city works committee this morning was a plan for widening Quadra at the Pandora intersection. "This would allow us to line up the traffic lanes on Pandora and on Quadra without so much of a jog. It would improve the traffic flow very much at that point," said Ald. Mooney.

He added that a report on installation of traffic signals and their cost at the Fountain Circle is being undertaken "and we hope to have recommendations soon."

Policeman Dismounted Just In Time

Six vehicles piled up in a spectacular accident outside Memorial Arena Saturday night minutes before the street was crowded with hundreds of people leaving the weekly pro wrestling show.

But the person who had the closest escape in the accident was Cpl. Don Bule who parked his police motorcycle only a couple of minutes before it was demolished in the crash.

The accident was precipitated when a car driven east on Caledonia by Gordon Dunaway, 1039 Sutlej, was in collision with one driven north on Blanshard by Ken Curry, 3380 Quadra.

The force of the collision sent Curry's car out of control and it hit the police motorcycle parked on the traffic island in the centre of Blanshard.

ON TO HOOD

The car then sideswiped another parked vehicle on the other side of the island before ramming into a fourth car. The impact was so great it lifted Curry's car up on to the hood of this car.

The fourth car was then pushed into a fifth parked on the island.

No estimate of the total damage is yet available but the value of the motorcycle alone was $2,500.

100 Carpenters Out of Work Says Union Agent

There are more jobless carpenters in Victoria today than at any time in the past 18 months, local union statistics show.

Records kept by Carpenters' Union business agent James Moffat show 90 men registered for work with six more expected to be laid off tonight and others anticipated as construction jobs close.

He estimates the total unemployed at 100 carpenters, counting those who are not registered.

Shipyarders have also laid off carpenter joiners with termination of projects.

The last time the total was high was in January 1962, when 80 carpenters were registered for work.

Average figure during 1962 was 25 men per month.

Realtors Ask $8,000 Limit On Home Improvement Loans

Maximum loan available under the National Housing Act for home improvements should be increased to $8,000, the realtors division of the Real Estate Institute of B.C. said Sunday.

Current maximum loan on a one-family dwelling for improvements is $4,000.

Resolution calling for the increase was introduced by the Vancouver Real Estate Board at the institute's three-day convention in the Empress Hotel.

It also calls for changes in the required rate of repayment to lessen the burden on the average home-owner taking out a loan.

In proposing the change, the Vancouver board said there was increasing need for renewal of older parts of Canada's major cities which do not now yield their full potential because of deteriorated value.

The move would also stimulate employment in the construction industries and would provide urban renewal without direct costs to taxpayers and without the need for government intervention.

The resolution is to be submitted to the federal government.

The realtors' division of the institute also nominated Philip P. D. Holmes of Victoria for regional vice-president of the Canadian Association of Real Estate Boards.

Mr. Holmes, who is acting as chairman of the convention, is a past president of the B.C. association.

REAL ESTATE CAREERS

The group also passed a resolution urging B.C. realtors to take steps to encourage high school students to consider real estate careers through participation in "career nights" and similar projects in the schools.

The gathering of more than 250 delegates and their wives from all parts of the province, heard taxation expert Professor Ralph Loffmark of the University of B.C. warn this morning against the increase of indirect taxation by governments.

The more taxes are levied indirectly, he said, the less control there is over government spending.

He urged the realtors to become informed about the taxation system and, when urging changes, to make a clear distinction between what is good for individual groups and what is good for the community as a whole.

MUST BE FAIR

"Avoid self-seeking, tax-erosion devices," he warned. "If a tax system is going to stand up it must be fair to everybody."

At a meeting held concurrently, the professional division of the institute elected 15 new governors. Three Victoria men, Mr. Holmes, David R. Coell and Reg R. Sampson, were named along with A. B. Jacobson, G. H. Budge, G. O. Treit, J. G. Marshall, Vancouver; W. E. Dempsey, G. B. Raikes, Alan Keenleyside, New Westminster; R. E. Slinger, West Vancouver; D. H. Nichols, North Vancouver; R. H. Wilson, Kelowna; T. D. Rosling, Nelson; and James McCullough of New Westminster.

Harold Chivers of Vancouver was elected chairman of the realtors' division of the institute succeeding Lynn K. Sully of White Rock.

An 11-man canoe from Nanaimo won the final heat in the two-day Lummi-Stomumish Water Carnival held over the weekend near Bellingham, Wash.

Winning the three-mile race was $15 in prize money to each man in the canoe.

The first four canoes in the final race were from British Columbia.

A 70-year-old woman was slightly injured in a two-car collision Sunday evening at Cook and Rockland.

Mrs. Mornie Mallet, 2264 Allenby, was released from Royal Jubilee Hospital after treatment. She was hurt when a car driven west on Rockland by Arthur Riley, 828 Ormo, was in collision with one driven by Arthur Mallet.

A blowback in a furnace at the New England Hotel, 1312 Government Street, caused a fire scare just before 1 p.m. today.

Early garden produce can be used in the next surplus food stall to be held Saturday at the Elks Home.

Convener Mrs. E. E. Harper, 5645 Patricia Bay Highway, said today: "I'm hoping gardens are developed enough that there will be some extra vegetables, or people might be clearing last year's fruit and preserves from shelves and freezers."

"Any other food is most welcome," she said.

Pickup may be arranged through Mrs. Harper, GR 4-1750.

VMD Gives $10,000 to 'Y' Drive

Victoria's YM-YW building fund took another major step forward over the weekend with announcement of a gift of $10,000 from Victoria Machinery Dept.

The gift, announced by president Harold Husband, brought the current total to $820,000. Total goal of the campaign is $1.1 million.

"We are beginning to see daylight," campaign chairman Hugh Stephen said today. "We still have some large contributors to hear from and we're pressing ahead."

National corporations division passed $160,000 in total contributions over the week-end with a gift of $7,500 from

Canada Safeway and $1,000 from W. H. Malkin Ltd.

The Birks Family Foundation of Montreal contributed $1,000 via local manager C. J. Williams, bringing to $18,500 the total from three foundations in the eastern city.

T. Eston Co. has contributed $10,000 to add to employees' fund contributions of $4,000.

City Fishermen Gear For Coho, Blueback

More than 80 of the 140 commercial fishing boats usually tied up at Victoria fishermen's wharf are out today, cleaning up the spring salmon run in preparation for the season on coho and blueback starting Saturday.

Most of them have gone up the west coast of the Island, trying for the springs in what they describe as a pretty spotty year.

Those who have any catch

at all, come in to Victoria to re-ice and sell their fish—they get a few cents more per pound than the up-island packing plants will give them.

A few have done very well, but the bulk of fishermen are waiting for the coho season before taking on extra men or staying out for more than about 10 days.

"There just aren't too many spring salmon around any more," said Nels Sorboe, owner of the 40-foot Pacific Pride.

'Fly Pickets Anywhere' Longshoremen Threaten

Pickets will be flown to any ship in the world touched by ports with "hot" cargo in the event of a longshoremen's strike on the B.C. coast, a union officer said today.

Dockers in the B.C. locals of International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union vote Wednesday to authorize calling a strike at a moment's notice to paralyze shipping on the coast.

Victoria Local 504 business agent Stan Ball—one of a four-man negotiating team dealing with the B.C. Shipping Federation—said the union is prepared to meet the companies again to forestall a strike.

But, he said, the international union has promised the B.C. locals full financial and moral support should there be no alternative to striking the 4,500 longshoremen in the province—150 of them here and another 550 up the Island.

If after the start of a strike any ship takes cargo handled by anyone, the ship will be boycotted wherever it touches port, Mr. Ball said.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Patricia Ann Cook, a spinster school teacher from Guelph, Ont., was charged today with passing worthless cheques for about $1,000 and was remanded to June 13 when she appeared in police court.

Officers said they believe she used the money to finance a trip to Hawaii.

Shutdown in Stalemate

PORTLAND (AP)—The Pacific Northwest lumber shutdown of six large firms remained in a stalemate today with an estimated 20 per cent of plywood and 10 per cent of lumber production idled.

If any negotiating sessions have been arranged with the closed firms, they have not been disclosed. A federal mediator said, however, that he is exploring the situation.

Delegation 'Undermined'

OTTAWA (CP)—Fisheries Minister Robichaud said today that attacks on the Canadian delegation negotiating with Japan and the United States on north Pacific fisheries are undermining this country's position in the Washington negotiations.

Pirates Sign B.C. Youth

KIMBERLEY (CP)—An 18-year-old Kimberley catcher who was discovered by accident has signed a professional baseball contract with Pittsburgh Pirates of the National League.

Pittsburgh scout Babe Barberis, Seattle, said Alan Joseph Fabro has been signed for a "modest" bonus. He will report to the Pirates' Kingsport, Tenn., farm club in the Appalachian Rookie League.

Penticton Junior Vs Fold

VERNON (CP)—Penticton Junior Vs have gone the way of their once-mighty senior counterparts.

A letter sent to the Okanagan-Mainline Junior Hockey League by the club executive said financial trouble and lack of voluntary support has forced the team to withdraw from the league.

Test-Ban Talks
Set for Moscow

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy announced today that he, Soviet Premier Khrushchev and British Prime Minister Macmillan will send special negotiators to a high-level conference in Moscow in mid-July for a new effort to conclude a nuclear test-ban treaty.

In announcing this new breakthrough in the long and frustrating test-ban exchanges, Kennedy also declared an immediate ban on any U.S. nuclear tests in the atmosphere so long as other countries do not test. This put the specific question of a new round of nuclear explosions in the atmosphere up to Khrushchev.

"We will not be the first to resume," the president said in an address prepared for commencement exercises at American University. "Such a declaration is no substitute for a formal binding treaty—but I hope it will help us achieve one."

NOT 'SUMMIT'

The understanding on the Moscow meeting is that it will not be a summit session nor a foreign ministers conference but rather a meeting of representatives of Khrushchev, Kennedy and Macmillan, the representatives to be men who command their highest confidence.

"Our hopes must be tempered with the caution of history," Kennedy said of the conference to break the nuclear deadlock, "but with our hopes go the hopes of all mankind."

Kennedy made the announcement of the conference and the declaration of his own limited no-test policy as two of the three major points of his speech. In the third part he said:

BURNING ISSUE

In this obvious reference to burning U.S. civil rights issues, Kennedy declared:

"It is the responsibility of the executive branch at all levels of government—local, state and national—to provide and protect . . . freedom for all citizens by all means within their authority. It is the responsibility of the legislative branch at all levels, wherever that authority is not now adequate, to make it adequate. And it is the responsibility of all citizens in all sections to respect the rights of all others and to respect the law of the land."

Kennedy said of the new agreement with Khrushchev to try for a nuclear test ban that it is true no treaty can provide "absolute security against the risks of deception and evasion."

"But it can—if it is sufficiently effective in its enforcement and if it is sufficiently in the interest of its signers—offer far more security and far fewer risks than an unbalanced, uncontrolled, unpredictable arms race."

With the announcement here of the Moscow conference, it was understood that preparations for the meeting will be the major subject of discussion between Kennedy and Macmillan when they meet at the end of June.

Soldiers Explode
Bomb Found by Boys

VERNON (CP)—Army experts Sunday night blew up a two-inch high-explosive mortar bomb found earlier in the day by two boy-scouts at Cousens Bay, five miles south of here.

The bomb was the second of its type to be found in the last week and the 32nd discovered in the area since March 16, when two Scouts were killed by the explosion of a similar device.

The latest bomb was found by Scouts Gerald Kuch and Dale Bradford, who reported the finding to RCMP.

The army in August will start a full-scale search for bombs in areas used for manoeuvres in the Second World War.

Ward Denied
Bail

LONDON (Reuters)—Dr. Stephen Ward, the London society osteopath who is a central figure in Britain's "dolce vita" scandal, was ordered held in custody until June 17 when he appeared in court today on a charge of living on immoral earnings.

Police opposed bail when Ward, 50, appeared in court. Chief Inspector Samuel Herbert said "there are still a number of inquiries to be made."

Extra police had to be called to control crowds outside the courtroom when Ward appeared.

CONSIDER MORE CHARGES

Police told the hearing there were likely to be a "number of more serious charges," and said if Ward were allowed bail he might interfere with prosecution witnesses.

Inspector Herbert said that when Ward was charged and cautioned he replied: "Oh my God, how dreadful. I shall deny it. No one will come forward and say it is true."

Ward will be brought back to court for a further preliminary hearing next Monday—the day the House of Commons opens a critical debate on Profumo's illicit love life.

Ward can, if he wishes, make a separate application for bail before a judge of the high court.

DESCRIBES ARREST

Inspector Herbert told of arresting Ward in Watford, North London, soon after mid-day Saturday. He said he saw Ward and told him:

"You know who I am. You also know that I have been making inquiries about you for the last few weeks."

"As a result of those inquiries I am now arresting you for living wholly or in part on the immoral earnings of prostitution on diverse dates since Jan. 1, 1961."

No women were mentioned in the charge. Inspector Herbert told the court he had been investigating Ward for about eight weeks and expected to take two or three weeks more before presenting his case in full.

Mac Calls for Probe
Of Profumo Security

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan has asked his chief legal adviser, the Lord Chancellor, to look into the security aspects of the Profumo affair and a report is expected this week, it was disclosed today.

The announcement of Macmillan's investigation came after he returned from a brief vacation in Scotland this morning to face the political storm which blew up last week over a scandal in his government.

The prime minister met his deputy, R. A. Butler, early in the day.

The Conservative party leader in the House of Lords, Lord Hailsham, was also one of Macmillan's first callers, along with party whip Martin Redmayne, who is responsible for House of Commons discipline.

When he left the prime minister's office, Hailsham told reporters: "There are lots of things I would like to say, but there is nothing I am going to say."

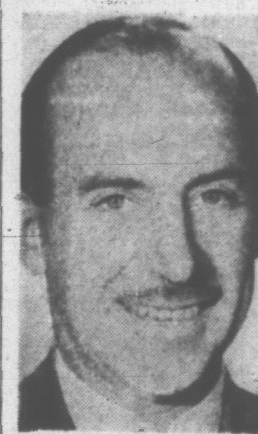

It was understood Macmillan asked the Lord Chancellor,

That was before John Profumo, 48, then war minister, resigned after admitting he lied to Parliament in insisting there was nothing improper in his relationship with girl-about-town Christine Keeler, 21.

Opposition Labor party leader Harold Wilson is expected to get a copy of Dilhorne's report, but whether it will be made public depends on its contents.

Wilson some time ago gave Macmillan documents on the security aspects of the Profumo case—arising from the fact that Miss Keeler had a relationship with Russian deputy naval attaché Eugene Ivanov at the same time she was meeting Profumo.

DOUGLAS HARKNESS

Harkness Dropped
By Tories

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Former defence minister Douglas Harkness has been left off the Conservative party's nominations for membership to the Commons defence committee.

This means he will not be a member of the committee. He sits in the House as a Progressive Conservative.

Mr. Harkness told reporters today that he found it "strange" that he had not been named a member of the committee by his party.

Mr. Harkness told newsmen that his exclusion from his party's membership on the defence committee was probably due to the fact that his views on nuclear weapons opposed those of Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker.

He found it "very strange" that he should be excluded in view of his extensive background in the defence field and the fact he could make "useful contributions" to the committee.

The members of the commission from the Conservative Party will be: Gordon Churchill, who was named defence minister by the Diefenbaker government after Mr. Harkness had resigned from that

'Instigated Terror Group'

MONTREAL (CP)—Georges Schoeters, 33-year-old Belgian-born economics student, testified under oath today that he was an instigator and the co-ordinator of the activities of the terrorist organization, Le Front de Liberation Quebecois.

Testifying at the resumption of an inquest into the bombing death April 20 of army night watchman Wilfred Vincent O'Neill, Schoeters said first he did not want to testify because he was "physically incapable of answering questions."

O'Neill's death has been attributed by police to the activities of the FLQ.

Schoeters, a student at the University of Montreal, said:

"I was threatened, I was struck once, I was locked up for a week. I am tired. I had to ask to be allowed to wash once. I am at the end of my rope. I have not seen a lawyer alone."

"I saw a lawyer once in the presence of two policemen."

His voice breaking with occasional sobs, the Belgian-born man said:

"I was arrested by the Germans when I was 13½. I was not treated as I have been in the eight days I was locked up here. That I swear to you."

At one point his lawyer, Gilles Duguay, asked that Schoeters be given the protection of the court. This means that nothing he said under oath could be used against him provided he tells the truth, said Coroner Marcel Trahan.

Insisting several times that he did not want to testify on name other persons, Schoeters said the FLQ grew in February, 1963, out of Le Réseau de Resistance pour la Liberation Nationale (The National Liberation Resistance Network).

Schoeters said the FLQ had no leader as such, but a small executive committee where everyone suggested ideas had been formed.

He said there were about 30 members in the FLQ. He as a Belgian-born could not be the leader because the FLQ felt that the position should be filled by a native Canadian. However, he was the "co-ordinator" of the group, which met about once a week in apartments of the members.

Earlier today an 18-year-old student at the University of Montreal testified that he had joined the FLQ and had taken part in throwing Molotov cocktails at an armory last March

Fifteen Material Witnesses Named

MONTREAL (CP)—Fifteen persons held as material witnesses in the bombing death of an army night watchman were brought into a heavily guarded courtroom today as an inquest into the death reopened.

It was the first time that the witnesses, some of them held by police for more than a week, were identified.

The witnesses, who entered the courtroom in groups surrounded by policemen, were identified as:

Georges Schoeters, his wife Jeanne, Jacques Giroux, Pierre Schneider, Francois Gagnon, Gabriel Hudon, Roger Trevaux, Richard Bizier, Eugenio Pilote, Mario Bachand, Gilles Pruneau, Yves Labonte, Raymond Villeneuve, Alain Brouillard and Denis Lamoureux, 20 student.

Most of the witnesses sat quietly, staring straight ahead or at the floor. A few chatted with the policemen guarding them.

The inquest resumed on a quiet note, except for a brief but heated argument over whether witnesses should be questioned in French or English.

After the Crown said it had no objection to the testimony of an English-speaking witness being translated into French the inquest was delayed for a few minutes while an official interpreter was called.

The death of Wilfred Vincent O'Neill, 65, has been blamed on Le Front de Liberation Quebecois, a self-styled group of "suicide commandos" that has claimed it is seeking Quebec's independence by violence.

Invited to Become Part

Squads of police were standing at the main entrance of the court house as coroner Marcel Trahan prepared to reopen the inquest. It had been started shortly after O'Neill's death April 20 and then adjourned for further investigation.

The first of the 15 witnesses to be called to the stand was Alain Brouillard, an 18-year-old science student at the University of Montreal.

Wearing a dark-green sweat shirt, he testified after asking protection of the court.

He said he surrendered to the city police in the company of his father last Friday.

He testified Raymond Villeneuve approached him about an organization called Réseau de Resistance, but said he did not join it. He said the RR has folded.

He said that toward the end of January or early February he met Villeneuve and that there was question of forming another group called Le Front de Liberation Quebecois.

He said he later received a phone call asking him to go to a restaurant on mid-town St. Denis Street where he was invited to become part of the FLQ.

"Did you join?" asked Crown prosecutor Guy Desjardins.

"Join is not the right word; they don't give membership cards," said Brouillard.

He said he spoke about the movement to friends of his whom he identified as Alain Gabriel, Francois Giroux and Jean Cloutier.

At the restaurant Brouillard said he met Georges Schoeters, Gabriel Hudon, Raymond Villeneuve, Jacques Giroux, no re-

Governor to Stand Alone

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—Governor George Wallace clung defiantly to his segregation stand at the risk of a jail term as the white supremacist headed for an imminent integration crisis at the University of Alabama.

The two Negro students he has sworn to turn back at the university doors returned to Alabama after a weekend in New York to await the showdown.

"We shall defend our rights and we shall dare to do so," the 43-year-old governor said Sunday night.

"I am going to stand for you at the university," he told the people of Alabama in a radio-television broadcast.

The students, Vivian Malone of Mobile, and James A. Hood of Gadsden, are to register Tuesday for the summer session. But the governor has pledged to be there and stand in their way.

Wallace planned to fly here this afternoon from the state capital at Montgomery, 100 miles to the southeast. Tonight, he is expected to confer with members of the university board of trustees who voted to admit the Negroes on the main campus here and a third Negro at the university centre in Huntsville.

The governor is ex-officio president of the board and voted against desegregation despite a federal court order.

RENEWED APPEAL

Before leaving Montgomery, Wallace renewed his appeal to the people to keep away from the university and let him alone carry out a test of state sovereignty.

Already on the tightly barricaded campus with orders to prevent any possible violence are more than 800 policemen.

Waiting in nearby armories on standby duty are more than 500 national guard troops mobilized Sunday by Wallace.

Guardmen arrived by helicopter Sunday.

of negligence and naivete in not unearthing the true story of the Profumo affair earlier.

The independent Financial Times reported strong pressure within the Conservative party for the government to publish the known facts in the affair before the debate next week.

The Daily Mail, a Conservative newspaper, said two new shocks faced Macmillan: The threatened publication of private correspondence between Macmillan and Opposition Leader Harold Wilson on the Profumo affair and the startling drop in the Conservative party's popularity.

There has been no suggestion that Profumo let classified information leak out. But his position in the double affair obviously made him a candidate for Soviet blackmail.

Some political sources speculated Macmillan might not wait another week to put his case to the nation.

Macmillan could feel that questions which remain are damaging to the government and himself while they go unanswered.

Principally the questions are these:

Was it true that security services knew about Profumo and Miss Keeler as well as Miss Keeler and Ivanov?

If they did, was Macmillan informed? And if he wasn't why wasn't he?

He must have heard the whispers which just about every other member of Parliament had heard. If so, why did he not check further?

Labor Party leader Wilson, now in Moscow, was reported planning to publish private exchanges he had with Macmillan after Profumo gave his not guilty statement to Parliament.

The reports implied that Wilson warned the prime minister but was ignored.

Smash-Grab Thief Gets $800 Worth of Watches

An inventory check has revealed that watches worth $800 were stolen in a smash and grab raid overnight Friday at Little and Taylor, jewelers, 1209 Douglas.

A thief, who broke a front side window of the store with a rock, grabbed eight ladies' and seven men's watches.

copter and motor convoy to reinforce the civilian officers—if necessary.

Wallace said in his broadcast that to send "a loyal southern governor to jail" would amount to military dictatorship.

He was mindful of a federal court injunction forbidding him to carry out his promised blockade of the two Negroes here Tuesday and the third Negro Thursday at Huntsville.

And he was aware that his defiance of the court order might bring federal troops to the campus, just as the resistance of other governors did at Little Rock, Ark., in 1958, and at Oxford, Miss., last year.

Wallace made clear, however, that his massive army of civilian police and the standby guard units will be used to prevent violence and not to bar the Negroes.

EGYPT'S PLAN FOR ISRAEL?

BASEL, Switzerland (Reuters)—An Austrian nuclear scientist told a court here today that a German working in Egypt planned to load rockets capable of destroying Israel with strontium-90 and radioactive cobalt.

The scientist, Dr. Otto Joklik, 41, is one of two alleged Israeli agents on trial here on charges of attempting to coerce a German rocket expert working for Egypt.

Joklik told the court he was invited in the autumn of 1961 to work in Egypt in the "physical and chemical sector," which he believed was for medical purposes only.

He quit his job in the summer of 1962 when he decided Egypt's "intention was the extermination of the Jews."

OBTAINED FROM CANADA

Under questioning by the court president, Joklik said Dr. Wolfgang Pilz, head of a group of German scientists working for Egypt, obtained strontium-90 and cobalt-60 from Britain and Canada to be used to load rockets.

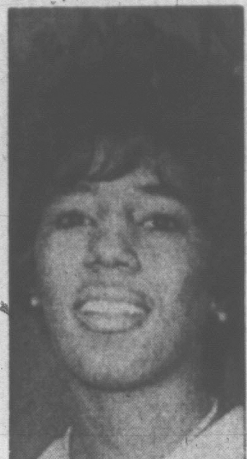

Joklik said he was assured he would receive 10 per cent of the $4,000,000 which represented the cost of the radioactive material to be supplied to Egypt.

Swiss authorities said Joklik worked for the Egyptian government until last autumn but then changed sides.

Planners To Revive City Group

A reactivated Capital Region branch of the Community Planning Association of Canada will elect a new slate of officers at a public meeting Thursday in Holyrood House at 8 p.m.

It is two years since the branch functioned in Victoria. Of immediate concern are the agricultural lands of Saanich Peninsula, Victoria University district, high apartments and the Bastion Square project, said Mrs. B. Levitz Packford, one of the people interested in having the group function again.

The meeting was called by former vice-president of the Victoria group, Norman Worsley.

Mrs. Packford said members will try to educate themselves and the public in community planning, and to promote the use of community plans, some of which already exist.

It is hoped the branch will work closely with local planners, groups interested in special developments such as Bastion Square rebuilding and Capital Region Planning Board.

Speaker at the meeting this week will be the planner for Richmond municipality.

Canadian Ship Collides With Dutch Vessel

CAPE VINCENT, N.Y. (CP)—A heavily damaged Dutch freighter was tied up in harbor here today, her pumps working mightily to prevent her sinking following a collision Sunday night with a Canadian grain carrier 10 times her weight.

The 2,300-ton Prins Alexander, earlier feared to be sinking, was holding steady at a breakwater in 20 feet of water. The pumps kept up with water flooding into her hold, although she continued to list. Her cargo of general goods was heavily damaged.

No one was injured in the collision between the Prins Alexander and the 20,000-ton Silver Isle, one of the largest vessels in the Great Lakes trade whose 730-foot length is the maximum that can fit into St. Lawrence Seaway locks.

Russian Man of Mystery In Profumo-Keeler Affair

By RAYMOND E. PALMER

LONDON (AP)—Capt. Yevgeny (Eugene) Ivanov is the real mystery man in the Profumo affair.

He has been described as a Russian playboy, a diplomatic troubleshooter — and a Soviet spy. Officially, he served as assistant naval attaché at the Soviet embassy.

Like former war minister John Profumo, with whom he shared Christine Keeler's favors, Ivanov was a married man. He came to London with his wife in 1960 for a three-year term. He was recalled to Moscow in December, 1962, shortly after Christine's discarded West Indian lover, John Edgecombe, fired a pistol at her and shot her name into the headlines.

According to diplomatic lists, the 37-year-old Ivanov was a captain (third rank) when he arrived in Britain. Before he returned to Moscow he had been promoted to captain (second rank).

Ivanov was a big spender. He cultivated a wide circle of British friends—something few Soviet diplomats are allowed to do.

He was a rugged Russian—haired, chested, agile and strong. He was a hard drinker. He liked taking Christine Keeler out to the bright spots, "winning and dining the red-haired party girl."

Ivanov is believed to have been a full-time member of the Russian military intelligence service, the GRU.

But his friend Stephen Ward, who has been charged with living on the earnings of prostitution, said he refused to believe Ivanov was a spy.

"In fact he was the opposite," Ward said. "During last October's Cuba crisis, Ivanov was the one man who maintained contact between Fidel Castro's regime and the West."

Ward said Ivanov relayed to President Kennedy an offer by Premier Khrushchev to order the return of Soviet vessels steaming toward the U.S. blockade of Cuba in exchange for a summit conference.

Ward also has said that Ivanov acted as intermediary in a Soviet move for talks with U.S. officials at the height of the Cuban crisis.

Front Page Ad Pushed Scott Novel in 1816

A new novel by Sir Walter Scott, "Colin St. Clyde," is advertised on the front page of a British newspaper called The Courier, belonging to Ernest Foster of 2835 Adelaide, Victoria.

Printed on Aug. 21, 1816, the newspaper announces that Scott's latest novel, was "published this day" in three volumes priced at 15 shillings.

The Courier also contains a despatch from the island of St. Helena recording that Napoleon Bonaparte — sent there in exile after his defeat at the Battle of Waterloo—had refused to receive any visitors.

INHERITED

Mr. Foster inherited this yellowing journal—and another of still more ancient vintage — from his uncle, Robert Faulkner, a former Canadian Pacific employee, who died here four years ago.

The Manchester Mercury of Jan. 19, 1808, reports a British Admiralty trial in which William Chapman, late captain of the slave ship Apollo, was convicted of "the wilful murder of Robert Dunn by exposing him naked to the weather, by starving him and by repeated acts of cruelty."

The Mercury also announces that a Mr. Barrymore will appear in "The Jealous Wife" and "Tammerlane the Great" at the new Theatre Royal, Manchester, "SMART, SHOCKING"

Lower boxes are priced at four shillings, upper boxes at five shillings, "the pit" at two shillings and sixpence and gallery seats at one shilling each.

There is mention of earthquakes in Scotland, with "two smart shocks" recorded at Perth.

"Persons in bed felt a sensible agitation, or rather concussion in an upward direction; and if the bed happened to be in contact with the wall, a lateral shock was experienced," the Perth reporter wrote.

Little Country Farm Vanishing in Britain

LONDON (CP)—Most city-bred Englishmen nurse a secret hope of settling down some day in a distant shire with a couple of acres and a cow or two.

But even if the Englishman has saved enough money to pay today's inflated prices for land, he'll be lucky if there are any small farms left by the time he wants to indulge his bucolic longings.

Mechanization and increased efficiency, products of Britain's post-war agricultural revolution, have started a trend toward large estates. Rich rural landowners have proved themselves as deft at property takeovers as their city cousins.

In the last 12 years some 40,000 small farms—holdings of less than 100 acres—have disappeared from the official lists. The total of farms with more than 300 acres has increased to 14,400 from 12,650.

One of the few remaining ways a young farmer can feel launch out on his own is to become a tenant of one of the 17,000 smallholdings run by county councils with government backing.

Government-owned farms, developing out of a scheme for veterans started after the First World War, provide an ideal opportunity for men with ambitions of independence to learn farming skills.

The trouble is there are not enough to go around. Every county council has a long waiting list and the government, worried about inefficiency and inflation, has acquired fewer than 50 new smallholdings in the last five years.
